Fresh Fish Concern Signs Big Contract With Cold Storage

Island Packing Company Limited, With Unlimited Capital to Export 8,000,000 Pounds of Packaged Fish From New Terminal Cold Storage; Fleet of Trawlers to Be Operated All Year.

Millions of pounds of fresh fish, specially prepared, filleted and packaged, will annually be shipped from Victoria to all parts of North America, as a result of a contract between the Island Packing Company Limited and the Victoria Terminal and Cold Storage Company Limited.

The contract calls for shipment from the Ogden Point cold storage plant of 8,000,000 pounds of dressed packaged fish annually, and assures the establishment of Victoria as the home port of a fleet of about 150 trawling vessels, in addition to closely linking Victoria with the fishing communities of the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The Island Packing Company Limited entered the fish packing industry last fall, when headquarters were established in Victoria and connections established with distributing concerns in all parts of North America. In less than one year the company has expended more than $500,000 in plant and equipment for the handling of fish products and other fish, and already has a large fleet of fishing vessels in service at many points on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

MUCH MONEY READY

I. M. Isaacs, president of the Island Packing Company Limited, this morning stated that unlimited United States capital is available for development of the fresh fish industry of Victoria and the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

Fresh fish, frozen by the new Otis process, which only the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse uses on the Canadian Pacific coast, is destined to replace canned fish in the course of the next few years. Mr. Isaacs stated when announcing the signing of the great contract for space at the Ogden Point terminal.

"This industry will keep a large maritime population busy in Victoria. There will be employment for about 150 trawlers, in addition to the large supplies of fish available from the seine net operators up the coast of Vancouver Island," he stated.

"Preparation and packing of fresh fish will require a large staff of operators at the terminal, and will probably become so large in output as to justify, in a short time, the construction of by-products plants and the probable operation of a canning unit," he stated.

The fish will be filleted, wrapped in wax paper and placed in cartons. The freezing system used preserves the juices and flavor of the fish intact, and Mr. Isaacs believed that the industry will shortly become one of the most important of those operated in Victoria.

H. G. Brown, president of the Cold Storage Company, states that other large contracts have been signed.

PROVINCES' INCOMES SHOW BIG GROWTH

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—Revenues for the last fiscal year in the nine provinces totaled $168,109,504, while expenditures amounted to $165,338,909, according to an analysis of provincial finances published to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Per capita receipts were $17.43 and expenditures $17.16.

Chief sources of revenue were:

Taxation of corporations and land $25,235,341; liquor control $22,755,212; motor vehicles $18,980,716.
Interest on borrowed money was the heaviest expenditure at $39,427,633. Public buildings, roads and works cost $30,404,532 and education $28,936,559. Receipts and expenditures for all provinces have shown a steady increase since 1906, in which year the newly-created provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan reported for the first time. WILL VISIT CITY DURING FAIR WEEK

HON. W. R. MOTHERWELL

W. R. MOTHERWELL EXPECTED HERE FOR FALL FAIR

Federal Minister of Agriculture Invited to Speak at Ceremony August 19

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, has been invited to aid Premier Tolmie, Hon. William Atkinson, provincial Minister of Agriculture, and Mayor Anselm in the opening ceremonies of the Provincial Exhibition here on August 19.

According to arrangements made by W. H. Mearns, secretary of the fair committee, the Federal Minister will motor into town following the Canadian Club luncheon at the Experimental Farm, to take part in the ceremonies at the Willows.

Mr. Motherwell is scheduled to arrive in this city on the morning of August 19. At 11 o'clock he will address the fair committee, and will then be brought back to the Willows for the fair opening.

OPENS AT 2.30 O'CLOCK

At 2.30 o'clock the fair will be officially opened by the Premier, who will give a short address in the Agricultural Building. Each of the guests will give short talks.

In order to make the opening more impressive, the committee in charge of the fair is making a special effort to have all exhibitors and stall holders finish their display work before the opening day.

EXPLOSION KILLS SEVEN

Warsaw, Poland, Aug. 5.—Seven farmers were killed yesterday by the explosion of a shell found on the battlefield at the village of Latnice, near Lemberg. They uncovered the mine cap to take off the copper parts and the explosion followed. Several other persons were injured.

DISCOVERY OF COMET REPORTED

Johannesburg, S.A., Aug. 5.—An amateur astronomer named Forbes at Rondebosch, in the environs of Cape Town, has discovered a new comet.

Shortly after his discovery he informed Dr. Wood, the Union Government astronomer at the Johannesburg Observatory. He happened to be entertaining a party consisting of Sir Frank Dyson, Royal Astronomer, Greenwich, and eighty-two other scientists. Their telescopes were turned immediately on the part of the sky where the comet was supposed to exist and photographs were taken which, it was reported here, confirmed the report of its presence.

CITY WIPES OUT LAST OF BIG DEFICIT

Shortage of $3,386,000 in Local Improvement Sinking Funds in 1922 Now $10,145

Debt Reduction Is Taking Place Steadily, While Sinking Funds Restored to Order

Showing the steady improvement in the city's position since 1922, the most severe of the post-war years, Victoria will this year retire the last of the deficits in the local improvement sinking funds, which stood at one time at $3,386,000 outstanding on twelve by-laws, it was stated by D. A. Macdonald, City Comptroller, in response to queries to-day.

Out of a gross budget of $2,565,000 for 1929, the city has provided $498,125 for the retirement of debt this year. Serial debentures to the value of $203,271 will be paid off during the year, as well as provision made for sinking fund instalments of $174,855. Earnings in the sinking funds, now growing to a considerable factor, will contribute $10,000 this year; while the last of the local improvement deficit, now only $10,145, will be paid off and fully discharged, it is stated.

Of the city's budget of $2,565,000 this year, $1,146,519 is on account of debt, of which $763,693 expresses the sum that will be paid in interest, exclusive of interest on prepaid tax accounts and current operation. The serial retirements started early in the year, with $203,271 to be paid before the end of December. The payments have been met and will be completed as follows: February 1, $21,000; July 10, $53,000; July 21, $18,000 and $3,065; August 15, $350; September 1, $50,000; September 15, $8,456; October 10, $34,233 and $22,766; and December 1, $2,400. Extension securities and local improvements form the bulk of the payments to be made in the retirement of serials this year.

SIXTEEN LOSE LIVES WHEN TWO SHIPS COLLIDE

Twenty-three Injured and Many Rescued When Steamer Sinks Off Ostend

Ostend, Belgium, Aug. 5.—Latest casualty lists show eleven dead, twenty-three injured and five missing in the Ostend harbor disaster yesterday, when two pleasure steamers collided. Nine bodies have been recovered. Twenty-one survivors are in an Ostend hospital.

One crowded excursion steamer was coming in at full speed as the other, crowded with passengers looking forward to a short sea trip, was leaving the harbor. The outgoing craft was cut in two with such suddenness that no use could be made of the lifeboats.

RESCUE WORK

Help was quickly at hand for those who got free of the sinking vessel. Lifeboats put overboard and the other ship saved many passengers, while strong swimmers from the bathing colony aided in the work.

Screams of the helpless women and children thrashing about in the water were heard for a considerable distance along the shore and thousands rushed from the beach to the pier to watch the dozens of small boats making rescues.

SLOW TO SEIZE VOTING RIGHTS

Only Seventy of 180 Property Owning Corporations in City on List

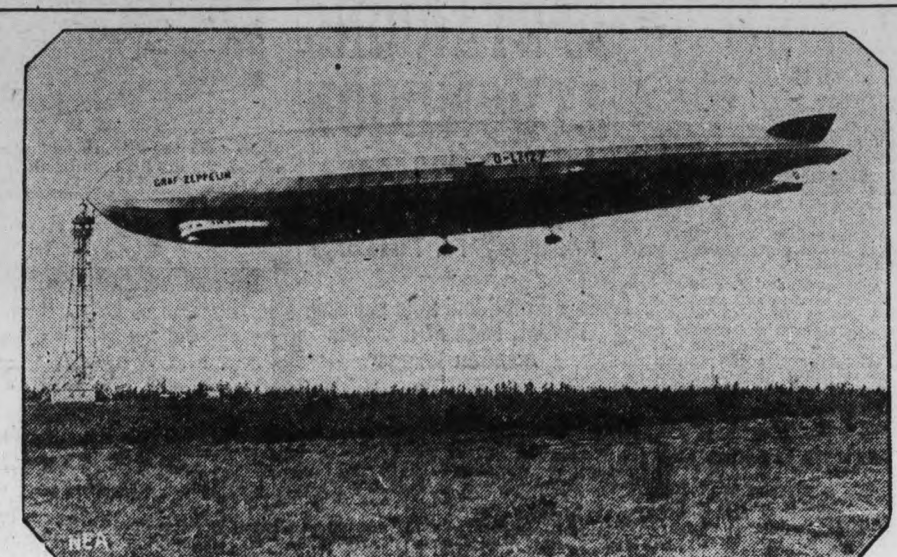

Out of 180 property-owning corporations in the city of Victoria entitled to appoint an authorized representative each to vote at municipal elections, only seventy firms have so far responded with the form required for the securing of their vote. It was pointed out by M. F. Hunter, city clerk and returning officer to-day.

A corporation owning $100 worth of property within the city limits, as registered owner, is entitled to name one representative to carry its vote at municipal elections. Though the name of the tax-paying corporation will show automatically on the voters' list, it is necessary for each firm to file a written authority with the returning officer, naming the representative to whom they will give their corporate vote.

This may be done now, and should be completed before October 31, it is stated, in order to facilitate the preparation of the 1929-30 civic voters' list.

Unless this written authority has been filed with the city, no person will be allowed to vote on the qualifications of a corporation. The representative must be a British subject of the full age of twenty-one years.

Marler Calls For New Co-operation to Extend Canada's Japan Trade

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—Canada's total trade with Japan has increased elevenfold in sixteen years and nearly sevenfold in the last eight years. There is no market of greater potential value to Canadians than the Orient, and there is every prospect trade with Japan will continue to increase, it was declared by Hon. Herbert Marler, Canada's first minister to Japan, who addressed a joint luncheon of the Vancouver Board of Trade and Canadian Club to-day.

"While, however, the Minister to the Orient and your officials will do all in their power to assist the Canadian exporters, the exporters also will require to do their share. Co-operation in this respect is essential if we are to succeed. We cannot be successful separately," Mr. Marler said.

FRIENDLY RELATIONS

"As a basis of all relations we must first establish and continue the most open and friendly political relations. In that respect, Japan and Canada are in a most happy and fortunate position. Our relations with the people of Japan are most friendly. They should be, and it will be my first duty to bring these relations closer—that the entire confidence of the people of Japan is retained and that the best of relations always exist between the two countries."

Referring to the possibilities of expansion of trade, Mr. Marler said: "No one can say we are even approaching the height of our production. Indeed, it would be more correct to say we are barely commenced." Mr. Marler declared in an analysis of the trade with Japan.

Search Is Made For Missing Customs Man Along Detroit River

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 5.—A United States customs border patrolman, missing since he left a Government boat Friday night to board a seized rum craft, is the object of an intensive search by border patrolmen. An unidentified man telephoned the Detroit Free Press saying a dry agent probably was "knocked off last Friday" and his body can be found in a boat on the west side.

Walter Petty, acting collector of customs, admitted the man was missing, but discredited the theory he had been killed.

Cars Plunge Into Harbor

Three Tankers and Box Car Slide Off E. & N. Tracks

Plunging into deep water at the E. and N. dock in Esquimalt Harbor on Saturday afternoon, when the brakes of the engine slipped, four Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway cars, three oil tankers and a box car, were to-day being raised to the surface by the large derrick scow of the Pacific Salvage Company from Vancouver and by the crew of the salvage steamer Salvage Queen of Victoria.

At noon to-day three of the cars had been raised and the fourth was being prepared for the sling, which was to bring it to the dock. The wheels of the four cars and other parts lost in the accident will then be brought up.

SLIP GAVE WAY

After loading oil at the tanks on the Hudson Bay property, leased by the Union Oil Company, in Esquimalt Harbor, opposite the Indian reserve, the cars were being backed to the ferry slip, where they were to be run onto a barge for delivery at up-island points. The brakes of the engine, however, gave way and the cars ran out over part of the slip which was not supported. This weak portion gave way, and dropped with the cars into the water. The cars piling up on the track saved the engine. Damage is reported slight and the cars, it is expected, can be repaired at little cost.

OIL ESCAPES

The contents of one oil tanker were lost. Oil lies on the water surface around rocks, docks and some of the beaches and coves. The oil in the other two cars was saved and was pumped from the wrecked tankers as they lay in the water to dry cars on the dock. Each car contained about 200 barrels of oil.

The derrick scow was towed over from Vancouver and reached Esquimalt yesterday morning. The Salvage Queen arrived on the scene of the accident yesterday morning, and before the day was out had three of the four cars on the surface again. Before leaving to-morrow the salvage crews will also raise the fallen slipway.

ANGLIN SWORN AS DOMINION ADMINISTRATOR

Chief Justice of Canada Takes Official Oaths in Premier Tolmie's Office

Rt. Hon. Francis Alexander Anglin, P.C., Chief Justice of Canada, became Administrator of the Dominion of Canada, with the title of Excellency, at noon to-day, when he took oaths of allegiance and office in the office of the Premier of British Columbia at the Parliament Buildings.

The investiture was the first ceremony of the kind ever held in British Columbia, and was made possible by a special visit to Victoria of G. G. Keizer, of Ottawa, assistant clerk of the Privy Council.

His Excellency Chief Justice Anglin will hold office as Administrator of Canada during the absence of Governor-General Lord Willington on a vacation tour in the United States, which commenced to-day, and is expected to continue for ten days or two weeks.

Little ceremony marked the administration of the oaths to the Chief Justice.

NEW SMALL CARS SOON TO CROWD U.S. HIGHWAYS

Big Stores to Sell Them on Mail Orders For $200 Each, It Is Stated

New York, Aug. 5.—The New York Times says negotiations are under way for large scale production of a new "baby" automobile which will be sold through mail order houses for $200.

The car is the invention of James B. Martin of Garden City, N.Y. The feature of the car is that there are no axles in the usual sense of the word, each wheel being independently mounted in the reinforced body. Rubber "suspension cord" is used in the suspension of each wheel instead of a spring. The new car has a wheel base of sixty inches, compared with the 103½-inch wheel base of the smallest car now being produced in the United States. Mr. Martin says his invention will do fifty miles on a gallon of gasoline.

He declares he plans to have each car shipped in a weatherproof packing case with a hinged door which may be used as a garage.

Amateurs Sail Their Small Craft From Nova Scotia To the Azores

Horta, Azores, Aug. 5.—The forty-six-foot Ketch Carlsark is at anchor in this harbor to-day, having arrived last evening with its crew of four amateur sailors, all of whom were Cornell University men, after a remarkable crossing of the Atlantic in twelve days.

The skipper, Carl L. Weagant of Douglaston, L.I., Cornell football manager last year, declared his three companions had not suspected they were crossing the Atlantic until more than half of the distance to the Azores had been covered.

"We left Lake Ontario secretly in June and sailed up the St. Lawrence," he said. "We reached Nova Scotia and left there July 22. My crew—D. N. Scholtes, J. M. Rummier and H. M. Devereux—did not suspect my intention of crossing the Atlantic until we were half way to the Azores, seven days out. Twelve days of good weather made a splendid journey for us. We encountered a whale on entering the Gulf Stream. We have two radio receiving sets. "We intend to leave Fayal almost at once and proceed by way of San Miguel and Gibraltar to the Mediterranean, returning by way of the Canary Islands and the Cape Verde." Capt. Weagant requested the Associated Press correspondent to notify several persons in the United States of the whereabouts and good health of the party.

Local Junior Tennis Star Loses to Oregon Girl in B.C. Championships

Tennis stars from various points along the Pacific Coast and the Canadian provinces to-day swung into action on the courts of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, where the British Columbia Tennis Championships are being held all this week.

Play commenced at 10 o'clock this morning and will terminate with the six o'clock draw being completed. As usual the ranks will be thinned out considerably to-day and the favorites will probably dominate the play. However, there are many stars from across the border in the tournament that are not seeded, so a number of upsets are expected.

Laursen Driscoll, who has been in the finals of nearly all the circuit tournaments, has been seeded first, closely followed by Kurt Berndt, Ray Casey, Wallace Bates, who entered at the last moment, George Green, another late entrant from San Francisco, Harry Plymire, Osie Ryall, Frank Gove and Mervyn Griffin have all been favored.

Dorothy Weisel, undefeated Sacramento player who has won every event for women's singles, heads the women's list, while several local stars, including Marjorie Leeming, city champion; (Concluded on Page 3)

CITY AWAITS PERMIT FOR NEW AIRPORT

Removal of Log Booms From Site Near Raymur's Point to Be Made Effective

Official sanction of the site chosen by the city for a seaplane base, on the south side of the harbor near Raymur's Point, is being awaited from Ottawa, it was learned at the city hall to-day.

The city has asked for a license of a site near the old chemical wharves, within five minutes drive of the heart of the shopping and hotel area, and is now awaiting a reply.

The plans contemplate a public facility to accommodate visits by an aircraft of the seaplane or flying boat types, as well as provision for the servicing of the machines. Several offers have been received by the city for the privilege of establishing oil and gasoline service depots at the site. Other requirements called for by the Federal air authorities for the safety of the public are now being studied.

The site has been inspected already by officers from the B.C. Air Station at Jericho Beach, and the licensing of the base is now sought.

The site was used formerly for mooring log rafts for local mills, and some objection to the proposal that it be devoted to a seaplane base was encountered by the city in the earlier stages of the negotiations. Now, it is understood, these differences have been ironed out, and the city awaits word from Ottawa for permission to go ahead with the plan.

PEACE AND PROGRESS

"We are convinced a new means of travel will make for more travel and we believe any shortening of the distance between the United States and Europe means a step forward toward the peace and progress of the world," he said.

Dr. Kiep expressed great enthusiasm over every feature of the trip and said the flight was "exceptionally placid."

U.S. Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N.J., Aug. 5—The German commercial dirigible Graf Zeppelin was safe in port here to-day after its third crossing of the Atlantic. And the day after to-morrow it will start back for Germany, a flight that will be the first leg of a journey around the world.

The Graf Zeppelin, largest of dirigibles now in service, left Friedrichshafen at 8.29 Eastern Standard Time, Wednesday night and was pulled to the ground here at 8.49 last night after 95 hours and 19 minutes in the air. The westward crossing last year took 111 hours. Not that it was all favorable weather this time. "There was every kind of weather," Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the ship, said on landing. "It was a very interesting flight. We had no snow and no hail, but there was a storm close to us at the start and there were strong head winds for the last fourteen hours in the air."

"We had a very enjoyable time," he said. "At night we danced and sang and drank wine."

There were other amusements too. Passengers told of a bridge, tournament and recounted with laughter how they had "aided" themselves in face of the rule against smoking by carrying porcelain cigarettes which they "lit" with electric flashlights.

The eighteen passengers, including two women, showed no signs of weariness. They left for New York in a special train.

The Graf Zeppelin could have landed a couple of hours sooner but for a gusty wind of about 40-mile velocity.

NIGHT LANDING

The dirigible first floated over the field here just as the sun was getting red in a bank of slate grey clouds. On radio advice the ship circled back to New York and finally made a night landing.

Immediate preparations were made to start refueling the Graf Zeppelin and replenishing its supply of nitrogen, so that it might leave on its return journey to Friedrichshafen Wednesday night.

From there it is planned the ship will fly to Tokyo, thence to the West coast of the United States and back to Lakehurst. This girdling of the globe completed, the ship is expected to fly back to its home port across the Atlantic, bringing its total of Atlantic crossings to five.

ESCORTED BY PLANES

The Graf Zeppelin was escorted from beyond the New Jersey coast line to Lakehurst yesterday by half a dozen (Concluded on Page 15)

Hamburg-American Company Announces It Will Enter New Field

Lakehurst, N.J., Aug. 5.—Dr. Leiser Kiep, manager of the Hamburg-American line, one of the passengers who arrived here last night aboard the dirigible Graf Zeppelin, to-day announced the Hamburg-American line "has decided to put its whole organization behind the project of building airships."

Dr. Kiep said the performance of the Graf Zeppelin "proves that other ships can be built with stronger engines so transatlantic trips can be made with great regularity and speed."

"We are convinced a new means of travel will make for more travel and we believe any shortening of the distance between the United States and Europe means a step forward toward the peace and progress of the world," he said.

Dr. Kiep expressed great enthusiasm over every feature of the trip and said the flight was "exceptionally placid."

Harriet Beecher Stowe's
Famous Novel on the Screen
With Famous Cast

At the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences recently, when a Civil War slave bill was placed among the historical relics, the presentation ceremonies were participated in by the most spectacular slave of those troublous times. She is "Pinky," who as a child of nine, was sold by Henry Ward Beecher, brother of Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," from the pulpit of Plymouth Church as his protest against slavery.

"Pinky," now Mrs. James Hunt, wife of a colored lawyer of Washington, returned to Brooklyn and stood in the pulpit of Plymouth Church and told of the sensational proceedings there sixty-seven years ago.

Mrs. Hunt recalled that the fiery, slavery-hating Beecher, dressed as a slave auctioneer, told the congregation that a pushover, John Finkner Blake, had bought the girl in Virginia for $900 and sent her to Brooklyn.

The slave-auction forms a tense and gripping scene in the super-production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," at the Columbia Theatre to-day. It is in this scene that Simon Legree buys both "Uncle Tom" and "Ellie," the fore-runner of one of the most thrilling episodes of the picture.

To-day there are more than 2,000 motion picture houses equipped for reproducing "talkies."

VILMA BANKY IS STARRING AT DOMINION

Beautiful Blonde Actress Has
Splendid Role in "The Awakening" For Three Days

Plays Emotional Role of Marie Ducrot, Belle of a Simple Alsatian Village

"The Awakening," Samuel Goldwyn's latest "sound" production, which comes to the Dominion Theatre to-day for a three day run presents Vilma Banky as a star in her own right for the first time in a role which gives her new and greater opportunities for highly strung emotional acting as Marie Ducrot, the belle of the simple little Alsatian village of Pre d'Ore. Heretofore, Miss Banky has been a feature player appearing in the main with Ronald Colman in such pictures as "Two Lovers," "The Night of Love," and "The Magic Flame."

The picture is a notable example of straightforward plot, unmarred by side developments, laid in only two settings but achieving a contrast through the depiction, side by side, of peaceful peasant life just before the World War and the horrors of the first few days of the conflict. The story of this United Artists picture was written by Frances Marion, one of the very first flight of screen writers, and, in addition to Miss Banky as star, offers Louis Wolheim, the famous character actor, and Walter Byron, Mr. Goldwyn's new English "discovery" in the featured roles.

Victor Fleming, one of Paramount-Famous Players-Lasky's crack directors, was borrowed by Samuel Goldwyn to direct "The Awakening."

FINE COMEDY PICTURE IS AT CAPITOL

Jack Mulhall Provides Plenty of Laughs in Three-day Picture "Twin Beds"

Hilarious Comedy of Newly Married Couple Will Be Produced Over Vitaphone

The bedroom farce still provides the idea vehicle for light comedy. In such a setting Jack Mulhall is in his element. Therefore, when First National-Vitaphone Productions decided to film Margaret Mayo and Sam Hurrey Field's highly successful farce, "Twin Beds," Mulhall was the instant choice for the star.

"Twin Beds," which opens at the Capitol Theatre to-day, deals with the adventures of a bridegroom and a bride who are separated on their wedding night. A whole series of side-splitting incidents occur—the rambling drunk who gets into the wrong apartment—the irate housewife who chases him, the parade of pajama-clad men and women through the apartment house—these are only a few of the highlights of a rollicking story.

In the limited confines of a theatre stage "Twin Beds" was a hilarious affair indeed; with the screen's wider scope it is even funnier and more complicated.

"Through mistaken identity, mistaken motives and similar blunders, innocent parties are led into the most compromising situations in which each is entirely guiltless, but which the audience may enjoy to the fullest extent."

"This makes for good, clean comedy, with just a dash of spice. As long as the motives and intentions are innocent, it matters not how compromising the positions and situations really become."

When a middle aged, home loving husband suddenly goes on a rampage and becomes infatuated with a chorus girl on whom he lavishes more clothes and gifts in a few months than he did on his wife in twenty years, what should the poor wife do? This question receives a delightful and unexpected answer in "Chicken a La King," Fox Film's rollicking movie fare offered at the Playhouse.

In this picture the wife instead of sitting back and weeping helplessly or threatening divorce forms a partnership with the girl with results that are highly diverting for all except friend husband.

SERIOUS FIRE PROBLEM IN B.C.

Hot and Dry Conditions Extend Throughout B.C.; Fire Total Is Record

With the number of forest fires in the province up to the present time well over the 1,000 mark, surpassing all previous years, British Columbia now faces an extremely serious situation in this respect, according to the weekly bulletin issued by the forest protection branch of the Department of Lands. Hot and dry and extremely hazardous conditions prevail practically throughout the province, having extended during last week. Unless a break in the weather occurs soon, extensive fire and heavy losses are expected. The total number of fires to date is 1,031, which compares with 743 last year and 609 in 1927. The southern interior has been the heaviest to suffer with 509 separate blazes during the first seven months of the year. The Vancouver area has reported 206 fires, Prince Rupert 123, Prince George 66, Kamloops 77 and the Cariboo 50.

NEW BRITISH OFFER TO EGYPT IS DISCUSSED

Premier at Cairo States Friendly Understanding Is Basis of Plan

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 5.—Premier Mahmoud, in a message last night to the people of Egypt, declared he had received proposals for settlement of the country's relations with Great Britain that went far beyond any previously made. His message said: "I am happy to announce that after long and difficult negotiations, I have succeeded in obtaining proposals for settlement of relations between Egypt and England on the basis of friendly mutual understanding. 'Full details will be published in due course and it is my fervent hope they will be examined in the spirit of enlightened patriotism by all Egyptians who love their country, regardless of party or creed. I believe that if examined in this spirit they will be found to go far beyond any proposals which have preceded them and that a treaty embodying these proposals will consolidate friendship and enable the two countries to co-operate in preserving the peace of the world.'"

Thirteen Make Escape From Narcotic Jail

Los Angeles, Aug. 5.—A midnight riot of inmates of the Spadra State Narcotic Hospital near here to-day resulted in the escape of thirteen men. The outbreak was quelled only after authorities, reinforced by a squad of deputy sheriffs, had threatened the mob with sawed-off shotguns.

GARDEN PARTY FOR THE BLIND

Rotarians Have Made Arrangements For Transportation of the Blind and Guides

Mr. R. P. Butchart, honorary vice-president of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and Mrs. Butchart will entertain to-morrow afternoon at their home Benvenuto in honor of the blind in Victoria and their friends and any who are interested in the welfare of the blind. During the afternoon, M. C. Robinson of Vancouver, superintendent for Western Canada of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, will outline the activities of the institute. His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie and Lady Constance Faykes of Mayne Island have signified their intention of being present at the garden party. Transportation for the blind and their guides has been arranged by Rotarians, who will have their cars at the Crystal Garden at 2:30 in the afternoon ready for the trip to the gardens. Anyone who is interested in the welfare of the blind and has not already received an invitation to be present, is asked to telephone Mr. Robinson, who with Mrs. Robinson, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. McTavish, Lampson Street, phone 9378.

and gave assent to oaths to "well and truly execute the office and trust of Administrator" and to "well and truly execute the office and trust of Keeper of the Great Seal of His Majesty's Dominion of Canada." Following the signature of the oaths, as recorded in a large register presented by Mr. Kezar, His Excellency was warmly congratulated by Hon. S. F. Tolmie, P.C., Harold B. McEwen, P.C., Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald of the Court of Appeal of British Columbia and A. J. Fraser of Victoria, formerly of Ottawa. The register was then signed by all but Mr. Fraser as official witnesses. Following the investiture, His Excellency issued a proclamation announcing his assumption of office as Administrator of the Dominion of Canada. A second proclamation appointed Hon. Mr. Justice P. B. Magnum, of Ottawa, as Deputy Administrator, invested with authority to sign documents of urgent character. A group photograph of the participants in the investiture was subsequently taken on the steps at the western entry to the Parliament Buildings.

MOTORLOG PARTY FROM SOUND CITY VISITS VICTORIA

Saanich Arm, Cadboro Bay and Shawnigan Lake Attract Seattle Party

Fred Epp, motor editor of The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, and eight managers of Washington State Automobile Club information bureau, visited this city over the week-end on a motorlog tour which includes the Saanich Peninsula and the southern end of the Island as far as Shawnigan Lake. The trip will be the subject of a full page feature story appearing in the August 18 issue of The Post-Intelligencer. Publicity Commissioner George I. Warren and the bureau's special representative, Charles J. Caunt at Blaine, Wash., met the party at the international boundary Saturday morning and conducted them to Steveston where they embarked on the steamer Motor Princess for a trip over the newly-established route to Sidney. The afternoon was spent fishing on fending in the tidal creeks. The party was entertained by Mrs. Ida C. Hale, proprietor of the Cadboro Bay Hotel, where they remained for the evening. After a swim in the refreshing waters of the bay Sunday morning, the visitors visited over the Malahat Drive to Shawnigan Lake where they were guests of Alderman John Worthington at his summer home. The return was made in the evening to catch the Edmonds Ferry steamer at midnight.

PREMIER WILL MEET CASCADE HIGHWAY GROUP

Hon. S. F. Tolmie to Attend Dinner For Pilgrimage Party on Friday

Road officials, publicity men and prominent residents along the route of the proposed new Cascade Pass Highway will terminate a journey over the route at Victoria on Friday when they will be entertained at luncheon under the auspices of the tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Premier S. F. Tolmie will be a guest of honor at the luncheon, which will be held in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, starting at 12.15 o'clock. To-day the Cascade Pass pilgrimage is on the east side of Deception Pass, through which it is hoped to open up the most northerly travel route in the State of Washington. On Wednesday a new bridge will be opened at Marblemount and the party will then proceed to the coast and by ferry to Victoria. Hon. John Gellatly, Lieutenant-Governor of the state, is a member of the pilgrimage party and will speak at Friday's luncheon. Mr. E. Field, president of the Council of Commercial Bodies in Eastern Washington, and E. F. Banker, representative for Okanagan County in the State Legislature, will also address the meeting. The following will represent Anacortes: Gus Hensler, C. C. Barnett, L. E. Stearns, W. F. McCracken, Joe Hagan, Virgil Neely and McGregor Allan. The visiting party numbers about forty.

NO BREAK YET IN BIG ENGLISH COTTON STRIKE

Orders For Cotton Yarn Sent Abroad By Nottingham Lace Manufacturers

Manchester, Eng., Aug. 5 (Canadian Press Cable).—By a substantial majority the Amalgamated Spinners and Cotton Operatives at a meeting to-day turned down the recommendation of the executive of the union looking to resumption of negotiations for settlement of the cotton strike. The union executive had urged it be given power to negotiate with the employers on the basis of some wage reduction, while the cotton mill owners had posted notices of a 12½ per cent reduction. The delegates at the meeting representing district associations, however, firmly rejected any negotiations and stood by the decision that negotiations would be conducted only if the question of a reduction of wages did not enter immediately. Signs are indeed not wanting that Lancashire's competitors in the cotton trade abroad are ready to take the place of the strikers. The great opportunity offered them. This was brought home by the announcement made to-day that several Nottingham lace manufacturers had already placed big orders for cotton yarn with foreign firms.

RAMBLERS HIKE TO SOOKE FALLS

On Saturday eighteen members of the Happy Ramblers left the city at 8 o'clock for the Sooke Falls. Leaving the cars at the end of the road, the members hiked up the trail to the falls. Swimming was greatly enjoyed by all. After luncheon and resting, some of the members went up stream to the pot holes. After exploring the surrounding vicinity the members made their way back to the falls where the chief steward had supper prepared. Leaving the falls at 6 o'clock the Ramblers followed the railway track to the cars and thence to Sooke Village and home. Those who made the hike were Mr. and Mrs. Slater, and the Misses Evelyn Day, Lepel Phipps, Audrey Cody-Johnson, Margaret Reif, Kit Freely, Margaret Jubb, Millicent Higgins and May Phillips and Norman Phipps, Jack Aylwin, Edward Slater, David Slater, Duglas Alcorn, Jonathan Slater, Ralph Freethy and Archie Woollett.

Lord Loughborough Is Killed By Fall

London, Aug. 5.—Lord Loughborough, former officer of the Coldstream Guards, and a captain in the King's Royal Rifles, fell from his window into the garden at his house in Holland Road, London, yesterday and died in a nursing home five hours later. Lord Loughborough was thirty-six years old. He served throughout the World War and was wounded. He was married in 1915 to Sheila, daughter of Harry Chisholm, but she divorced him in 1928. Fifteen new hotels have been opened in Paris since 1925; six of them having more than 250 bedrooms each.

Bert Buller Starts Fast Trip South

Albert Joya Buller, financial manager, left this morning in a high-powered car by ferry and over the Pacific Highway for California, where he will make a survey of financial conditions. He will spend some time in California oil fields to gather information for local investors and will also make a study of the moving picture industry in Hollywood and the effect the talkies are having on the investment side of the industry. Buller prepared to make fast time down the coast, his plans to-day calling for his arrival at Sacramento Sunday night.

"ARE WE AIR-MINDED?"

IN A RECENT ISSUE OF THE SATURDAY Evening Post the Ford Motor Company placed an advertisement with a heading asking: "Are We Air-minded?" The illustration depicted a speaker addressing a meeting in support of the establishment of an airport. In part the text of the advertisement read:

You might never have heard of Medford, if the people of Medford had not seen a vision in the sky above the mountains of Oregon, west of Lake Klamath. . . . That was the day they realized a new map of the world is being drawn in invisible lines across the heavens. . . . That was the day they determined that Medford should be known in the skies as a harbor . . . open to the commerce of the world!

Medford established the first municipal airport in the State of Oregon in 1922. By 1926 it was a regular port of call for the Pacific Air Transport. In 1928 a fleet of twenty-six ships arrived, including three great tri-motored Ford planes. Medford began to feel cramped!

When a vote was taken on a bond issue of $120,000 for a Class A airport, it was the largest ever polled at a special election in Medford, and the bond issue carried by a majority of 2,248 to 182!

This awareness of the small towns and cities of the west to the great significance of commercial aviation is worthy of serious consideration. For the town that ignores the possibilities of reaching the world through the sky is deaf to the call of real opportunity.

In the course of the next few months you will see new names come into prominence, names that are little known to-day. You will hear of Waynoka as an air-rail junction . . . of Clovis as a terminal of importance . . . of others north, east, south and west. . . .

From an economic viewpoint, this year will be one of the most important in the development of the new transportation. Great transportation lines will be inaugurated, tying city to city, ocean to ocean, continent to continent, by routes that will be measured not in miles, but in terms of time. Already it is possible for an airplane to take off in St. Louis and reach any part of the United States within twenty-four hours. Already planes have kept aloft for more than two weeks of continuous flying.

Victoria will not be visited by any air liners until we have an airport, safe for the reception of land planes and seaplanes. We must build for the business. It will not come until we have the requisite facilities.

A GREAT MOVEMENT

IF ALL TITULAR HONORS HAD BEEN

as well deserved as that which has just been conferred upon Sir Robert Baden-Powell by King George, the title system would be much more popular than it is. He is a world figure, and long before he had founded the great Boy Scout movement he had distinguished himself as a conspicuous military leader, his heroic defence of Mafeking standing out as one of the most colorful episodes of the South African war.

The jamboree now being held at Arrow Park, near Birkenhead, is marking the twenty-first anniversary of the birth of the organization of the world's youth under the Boy Scout banner. Some fifty thousand boys from more than forty nations are under canvas within sight of the Mersey, and by the end of this week the cause of international peace and understanding will have received a greater impetus than could have been given to it by the deliberations of many gatherings of diplomats.

The boys at Arrow Park, from more than forty nations, are being taught how to live, how to "play the game" and all the term implies. They have been taught the fundamental principles of good citizenship, to be kind to one another, tolerant and mindful of the duties and obligations which devolve upon them.

If Sir Robert Baden-Powell had done nothing else than found this great movement, he would have deserved high distinction. His organization of the youth of the world has earned a place alongside the Y.M.C.A. and other institutions which have as their objective the uplift of humanity. The principles of the movement embody self-reliance and manliness. When the youth who has enlisted under the banner of the organization reaches mature years he is the better equipped for the battle with life than he would have been if he had not been a Boy Scout.

Hence, there will be appreciation in all quarters of the honor conferred upon the distinguished citizen who has fully earned a conspicuous place in the international hall of fame. The name of Baden-Powell will be revered long after its owner has gone to his last rest.

JUVENILE LIVESTOCK CLUBS

THE ORGANIZATION OF BOYS' AND

girls' livestock clubs in Canada, the idea of which was conceived some years ago, has developed in a manner exceeding the most sanguine expectations and has proved to be a factor of greater influence than was ever looked for. To-day, in all provinces from coast to coast, there are few boys or girls of between ten and nineteen on the farm who are not members of some kind of livestock club and for whom this participation does not hold a paramount and unceasing interest. This is perhaps particularly true of Western Canada, where all schemes have been adopted most enthusiastically and where interest exhibited not alone by juveniles but adults is so keen that an attendance of a thousand or more is not unusual at one of the local fairs where the entries of young members come into competition. Recently great enthusiasm has been shown in the formation of such clubs in the Maritimes. The development of these clubs has been followed by the coming into existence of community breeding centres for high-class stock, and this can be directly traced to interest in superior animals inculcated and fostered in the youthful generation.

The work is actively carried on jointly by the Federal and provincial Departments of Agriculture, each providing fifty per cent. of the prize money awarded and sharing the supervision of the clubs during the first year. The railways, through their agricultural departments, the universities through their extension services, and departments of education, offer sympathetic co-operation, and little difficulty is experienced in maintaining enthusiasm once such clubs are launched. Boys and girls start with young stock of good type and breeding and feed and care for them continuously under supervision until the following year when they are brought together in the various provinces as yearlings for competition. Under skilful organization, clubs have rapidly sprung up in every province, some of them having nearly one hundred members, and their influence upon the livestock industry is, authorities claim, apparent. Not only is love of livestock and proper methods of care and feeding instilled at an early age, to be of untold benefit in later years, but through the children the farmers are reached in a manner that might otherwise be most difficult and not half as effective.

A case in point is the swine industry in Western Canada. Boys' and girls' swine clubs have done a great deal to stimulate interest in hog breeding in this territory and elevate the standard of animal raised. The Canadian Livestock Commissioner is authority for the statement that these clubs in Western Canada were responsible for the change over from the breeding of the American type hog to the growing of bacon hogs, a move which has been attended with such profitable results, but a step which authorities found it very difficult to get farmers to take of their own accord. Instances innumerable are related of where calves raised by club boys and girls under expert supervision have been such a revelation to a district as to set farmers in the community improving the quality of their stock and effecting revolutions in the development of outstanding cattle raising or dairy sections.

The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, through its superb dairy farm, recently took a hand in the organization of boys' and girls' calf clubs through the distribution of dairy calves in the Cranbrook district on the understanding that boys and girls exhibit the calves at the annual agricultural fair at Cranbrook with the privilege of selling them back at an advanced price. A commencement is now being made to interest boys and girls in the same manner in sheep raising, and this doubtless will have as great an influence in attaining the desired end of building up a representative sheep industry in Canada.

It is but one of the many ways in which the Canadian governments, supported by railways and other large organizations, are working ceaselessly for the promotion of the agricultural industry, and it is proving one of the most effective and of varied benefits. Actual ownership of livestock has given boys and girls a proprietary interest in the farm they would otherwise lack, has stimulated an interest in the best farm practice, and resulted in attachment to the farm and its pursuits. It is training the agriculturists of the future along the best and soundest lines. It is a matter of consideration for the immigrant that while he may at first lack expert farming knowledge which he has to gradually acquire, his boy and girl will receive the best tuition from the day of their arrival in the Dominion. In this connection, it is interesting to note that an immigrant boy, not two years from England, won the highest marks in a club competition at Kingston, Ontario, and was one to receive the Ontario Government's prize of a free trip to the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto last year.

CANADA'S OUTLOOK

WHEN HON. N. S. LOUGHEED, Minister of Public Works in the Talmie Government, returned from Great Britain last month he said that a large amount of British capital soon would be coming to British Columbia. We observed from various interviews with the Minister gave in the Old Country that he lost no opportunity of saying that this Province could insure good returns from such investments.

We wonder, however, whether Mr. Lougheed really understood the dire peril in which, according to some of his political friends, this country stands in an economic sense. Mr. Bennett, the leader of the Conservative Party, says that if we do not increase our tariffs, we shall be gobbled up by the trusts of the United States. On the other hand, if we do make our tariff wall higher, we shall be gobbled up by our own trusts. Gadzooks, a grim outlook, my masters!

Perhaps Mr. Lougheed does not put much stock in the meanderings of Mr. Bennett. In his heart he knew, when he was inviting British capital to Canada, that the policies of the King Government are the best for Canada, that capital in this country is as safe as it would be anywhere else in the world—and safer than in most countries.

The Toronto Star

Canada, the best customer of the United States, is driven to hard thought on the subject. And she is compelled to seek selling and buying markets elsewhere than next door at the very time when, fortunately, Vancouver has become one of the successful ports of trade with the world, and the Hudson Bay route is on the point of being opened as a short way to and from Old World ports. Events appear to be playing in our favor, timing matters propitiously. There is a Chinese saying to the effect that he that meets with no reverse is not on the high road to fortune. It sometimes happens that a knock energizes a country as a boost could not have done.

By H. B. W.

YESTERDAY WAS the anniversary of our entry into the war, the day when Foreign Minister Grey looking out of his office and watching the lights of London coming on, one by one, said that the lights were going out all over Europe and would be lighted again in our time. Fifteen years ago, that was, and the world at large has just begun to get its first real perspective of August 4, 1914, and the four years that followed. The lights are coming on again now.

FIFTEEN YEARS ago the nations went into war with a song on their lips and battle appeared glamorous. Now, with those years well behind, the world knows better. To-day in the Allied nations the most popular book of the war is the unvarnished tale of a German private. The play which is holding London and New York as they have not been held in recent times pictures the war as poisoning, instead of saving men's souls. Fifteen years have left their mark.

THE EXTRAORDINARY success of these two records is an encouraging sign for the friends of peace. "All Quiet on the Western Front," by Erich Maria Remarque has swept through Europe and over 100,000 copies had sold in America within two weeks of its publication. The author, who went to the war as a boy and was with the German army to the end, says that "this book is to be neither an accusation nor a confession, and is not an adventure to those who stand face to face with it. It will try simply to tell of a generation of men who, even though they may have escaped its shells, were destroyed by the war." On this simple basis he has written the story of the Unknown soldier of all nations, who has been generally overlooked these fifteen years, and what he has written is not pleasant to read.

NO MORE pleasant is "Journey's End," a simple play with little plot and no attempt to be clever. It only tells the plain facts of life in the Allied front line, a few yards from the German trenches where Remarque saw the men of his generation being destroyed by the war, even though they escaped its shells. "Journey's End" and "All Quiet on the Western Front" should do immeasurable good, but more encouraging still is the world's eager reception of them. Fifteen, ten, or even five years ago this could not have happened. There seems to be hope still that the lesson of the war has not been lost after all, though it has taken all these years to sink in.

EVERY DAY, indeed, adds some new sign of the world's desire for peace and cordiality between the nations. The latest evidence of this movement comes from Germany where the Foreign Office is endeavoring to abolish the old German custom of saying "Mahlzelt" at the close of a dinner or luncheon. At a German dinner party every guest, on leaving the table, offers his arm to the lady at his right and as he reaches the library or salon, bows to her, kisses her hand and says "Mahlzelt." This means literally "meal time," but is an abbreviated form of saying, "I hope you enjoyed your meal." The guests then proceed to the library and the party is not too large every guest will in turn shake hands with every other guest and wish him or her "Mahlzelt."

THIS OLD custom, which speaks volumes for the important place of food in the German scheme of things, has provided a serious irritant to foreigners. Foreign diplomats, unacquainted with German customs, take the hosts and hostesses "Mahlzelt" as a polite invitation to leave, for they cannot understand why any one should shake hands with them except to bid them goodbye. Many embarrassing situations have thus arisen, for diplomats, feeling themselves politely bowed out of the house, resent seeing other guests remain. The hosts, on the other hand, cannot understand why their distinguished foreign guests leave so abruptly. To end all these troubles the Foreign Office intends to abolish "Mahlzelt" altogether.

THERE ARE drawbacks, it turns out, to membership in the all-powerful Italian Cabinet, for Premier Mussolini has decreed that all ministers, he being most of them himself, must take no holidays this summer. This is Mr. Mussolini's business, of course, and the other ministers will have to do his bidding, but the dictator's reasons for this step are quite extraordinary. He says that holidays are an invention of democracy and he does not wish to introduce even a shadow of that hateful system into the unshuffled halls of Fascism.

IN THIS Mr. Mussolini betrays a woeful ignorance of his own kind. Holidays for statesmen were introduced by aristocracy, not democracy. An English writer has been busy compiling data on this subject and he finds that in Britain, most democratic of European nations, parliamentary holidays were started originally to facilitate the gentle sport of fox hunting. We are assured that Mr. Speaker Onslow of the House of Commons declared in 1769 that "the modern practice of long adjournments at Christmas and Easter and the almost constant adjournment over Saturdays are a great delay of business and of the sessions. This last was begun by Sir Robert Walpole for the sake of his hunting and was then much complained of, but now everybody is for it. Everybody but Mr. Mussolini and perhaps he is confident that the grateful Italian people will yet give him a long vacation.

AS THIS column has remarked before, out of the great open spaces of the American Middle West sometimes comes a gem of poetry so rare in our modern world. Such a gem came out of Grand Rapids, Mich., or rather out of a hen in that city. There is no moral to this tale but for its sheer romance it should be told. Six years ago it is recorded, a lady named Theodore Griner lost the diamond from her engagement ring while she was walking in her farm yard. The other day she was dressing a six-year-old chicken. In its crop she found the lost diamond. And while the newspapers of Grand Rapids, Mich., are silent on this vital point, I feel sure that, with the engagement ring restored to its former lustre, she will be able to marry now and live happily ever afterwards. Romance is not dead in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Will Establish
Fox Farm Here

D. D. Howatt of West Wetsakwin, Alberta, who has been spending several days on Vancouver Island, returned yesterday to his home after arranging with a local silver fox farm to care of a number of his foxes until next year when he expects to establish a ranch of his own on the island.

Mr. Howatt, while here, predicted a bright future for the industry on the island. The success of local fox farmers, he thinks, is due to extremely good sanitary conditions and to feeding methods.

HUNDREDS ENJOY SPORTS DURING LAUNDRY PICNIC

Keen Competition Shown in Races at New Method Outing at Deep Cove Saturday

Foot races, tug-of-war competitions, swimming and tennis furnished plenty of entertainment for employees of the New Method Laundry and their friends at the firm's annual picnic at Deep Cove on Saturday. Over 300 attended the outing, which proved the most successful held by the laundry since their amalgamation.

Leaving the firm's building at 11 o'clock, the picnicers drove through town in five chartered buses from the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Limited, and were followed at noon by another. On arriving at the grounds, the different parties divided at various tables and ate their picnic lunches, after which scores of the employees went swimming.

From 2 to 5 o'clock all gathered at the sports field, where an exceptionally fine programme was run off.

Tiny tots, under the age of four years started the races with twenty-five yard sprints. When the little ones had toddled to the tape, the older girls ran, with the seniors competing toward the end of the programme.

Nettie Muller proved the outstanding athlete in the girls' class, winning the heats and finals in the under twelve and under eighteen-year-old sections. Among the boys, Stan Jones ran a fine race to capture first honors in the boys under eighteen 100 yard dash from a fast field.

Percy Wilcox, Wilfred Jones and William Mooney captured first places in the 100 yard dashes for men, while Katie Walsh, Mrs. Sage and Lily Ockenden took the laurels in the women's events. In addition to winning the 100 yards sprint for employees, Miss Walsh, coupled with Ernest McLean, won the thread-the-needle race and led her team to victory in the relay.

KEEN COMPETITION
Exceptionally keen competition was shown in the tug-of-war contests. In the first two of these, the married men and married women proved too strong for the single men and women's teams. In the most bitterly-fought test of the entire programme, the routemen pulled the rest of the plant off their feet.

A high note of merit was added to the programme through the novelty events for men and women. The former were required to run fifty yards, dress themselves in women's apparel and return to the tape. Similarly, the girls had to run and dress themselves in men's clothing. In their outlandish garbs the competitors struggled to the tape in these events and brought forth roars of laughter from the onlookers. Cigarette, soda biscuit, and three-legged races also added greatly to the humor of the programme, which kept the spectators on their toes from start to finish.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MRS. MARY ELDER

Mrs. Elder will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

What Can the Five-year-old Do?

Every parent wants to know what their children can do, so that she may compare her own fledgling with them and mentally note that her own is the brighter. There is a stimulus to this sort of knowledge. Being aware of the peaks of achievement possible for the average child spurs the parent to give him the opportunity to practice in order to reach these peaks likewise.

What can the five-year-old, when he enters school, be expected to do?

He should be able to use pencils and paints, he can with any of these mediums draw a tree or a man or a house in a manner to make it readily recognizable even to an unbiased outsider. The child will likewise know the colors of the paints he uses. He can copy a prism, a cross or a triangle and can fill out the missing lines of a man of which only a part of the figure is drawn.

Given paste pot, scissors and materials, he can cut out objects and paste them neatly on a background (and who hasn't had a fir tree on a red blotter at Christmas time from his kindergarten child?), or cut strips of paper and paste them in designs.

At mealtimes the five-year-old can be trusted to carry the dishes in and out without breaking. In his play he has a thousand capabilities; he can swing and climb, and run and gallop and trot and hop, ride almost any kind of tricycle or kiddie car, pull his own weight in a wagon or push a doll carriage. He is fairly at home on an incline that isn't over three feet high, but if she belongs to the father if not weaker sex she'll probably want help down from any higher point.

The five-year-old can get himself together neatly if he has had practice in this particular art. Washing, combing hair, fastening buttons and lacing shoes are still somewhat of a job, but one that he can accomplish if he is allowed to do so. We still find mothers all too eager to relieve a child of these activities which he enjoys and in no sense regards as work.

In school he is a rapt listener when stories are told, and if the teacher pauses so much as a moment and the story is a familiar one he is waving his hand, eager to fill in the missing portion.

His vocabulary will mirror the one he hears at home and may consist of several hundred or over a thousand words. He should have perfect bladder and bowel control both day and night, should be able to sing simple songs, if sung to, know the difference in weight between two objects and the difference in the length of two lines.

He is beginning to understand the difference between real and imaginary, but he is still slightly confused by this and also by the terms to-day, tomorrow, yesterday and even afternoon and evening. Because of his lack of knowledge and experience and his tendency to see what he wants to see rather than what we consider "the facts," the child cannot be said to lie. Lying demands more knowledge than he will possess for a few more years. One tendency shows his mental growth most clearly. Up to five years the child always blamed the other fellow. At five he begins to find himself a part of the cause and effect and is able to balance and criticize his own acts. Just beginning—no more than that.

EDITH CAVELL'S MEMORY HONORED

Impressive Scene at Service Held Yesterday at Foot of Mount Cavell

Jasper, Alta., Aug. 5.—"Standing as I do, in the light of God and eternity, I realize that patriotism is not enough. I must have not hatred or bitterness toward anyone." The last words of Nurse Edith Cavell, who fourteen years ago was arrested and two months later put to death, were repeated yesterday afternoon in a solemn and simple service held in the memory of her nobility. Under the vast bulk of the snow-draped mountain, named in her perpetual honor, a group of Jasper town-folk and guests, at Jasper Park Lodge, gathered and paid "reverent" tribute. They stood at the foot of the outspread glacier of the Angel, and Mount Cavell towered in splendor a mile above their heads.

"What enabled her to make that contribution of courage and devotion to duty, to show that calm dignity in the face of death?" asked Rev. S. A. Edwards, the park chaplain, who originated the memorial service four years ago. "Anyone who could utter those words in the face of death must have climbed high on the hill of God." J. Snape, resident engineer of the park, led the congregation in the singing of "Rock of Ages," "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Abide With Me." The Dean of Calgary read the "Twenty-third Psalm" and Mr. Edwards offered the prayers. Before the final hymn, the bugler sounded the Last Post, as an officer of the Mounted Police slowly lowered the flag to half-mast. It was an impressive scene, "Mount Sorrows" battered sides rising up beside them, a snowstorm whirling on the crest of Cavell, beyond, the gray rain sinking along the jagged ridge behind them and into the valley, and the glacial streams roaring down through a tangle of stones and brilliant fireweed.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. A. N. Gowen of Vancouver is visiting in Victoria as the guest of Mrs. J. O. Cameron, Miss Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Castle and party left this afternoon on their yacht on a trip to Campbell River.

Mr. Harry C. Briggs, of Vancouver, has returned to his home on the Mainland, after spending a few days in Victoria on business.

Mrs. H. F. Crowe, Craigdarroch, has left for Fish Lake, near Kamloops, on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Squire of Newport Avenue, who are spending the summer there.

Mrs. J. C. Walton of Edmonton and Miss A. A. Wilkie of Edmonton are spending a vacation in Victoria and are guests at "The Bungalow," Superior Street. Mrs. E. Edwards of Edmonton is also a guest at "The Bungalow."

Mr. Justice Archer Martin, accompanied by his two grandsons, Masters Sarafid and Biggestaff Martin, returned to Victoria yesterday from the Forrest Inn, Shawanigan Lake, where he has been spending the last two weeks.

Mrs. Norman Williamson of Montreal entertained at a small dinner party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Little, Rockland Avenue, on Saturday evening prior to the dance given by Major and Mrs. Selen Humphreys at their home, "Westover."

Miss Florence Sehl, of the nursing staff of the Hospital at Cumberland, who has been spending her summer vacation in Victoria as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sehl, Wark Street, has returned to her home up the Island.

DAME FAWCETT DIED TO-DAY

London, Aug. 5.—Dame Millicent Fawcett, a leader in the suffragist movement, died early this morning.

For sixty-one years, or until her efforts were crowned with success, Dame Millicent Fawcett, with voice and pen, fought the battles of the women of England for equal suffrage rights.

It was for her a momentous day in May, 1887, when from behind the grille in the ladies' gallery of the House of Commons she heard John Stuart Mill advocate a women's suffrage amendment to the Representation of the People Bill.

It was, perhaps, a more thrilling moment in July, 1928, when from an honored seat in the House of Lords she heard royal assent given to the bill for the enfranchisement of women on the same terms as men.

In the interim of more than three score years, Dame Millicent devoted her time, her energy, indeed her whole life, to the forwarding of the feminine cause. Imbued with the fire and justice of Mill's speech, she began immediately to educate the public to the new idea by speaking throughout England.

Dame Millicent soon became widely known as a forceful speaker and an accomplished writer, for soon after she began her platform arguments she supplemented them with the product of her pen. Her name became identified with the entire women's movement. In addition to woman suffrage she constantly made higher education of women and the independent employment of women themes of her addresses.

The last of the pioneers of the cause of woman suffrage, Mrs. Fawcett for many years was head of the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies. She often expressed her disapproval of the militant methods of the Women's Political and Social Union, of which the late Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst was leader, which were contrary to the aims of her own organization to bring about woman suffrage by the orderly manner of parliamentary action.

"I have been filled with sorrow at the conduct of these misguided women," said Dame Millicent after a series of suffrage riots. "Our organization always has disapproved the use of physical force as a means of political propaganda. But the justice and expediency of any cause is not affected by the unwisdom of some of its advocates."

Born Millicent Garrett at Aldeburgh, Suffolk, June 11, 1847, the venerable suffrage leader was the seventh child of Newton Garrett, a justice of the peace. At the age of twenty she was married to the Rt. Hon. Henry Fawcett, widely-known political economist and Liberal member of parliament, who afterwards became postmaster-general. Dame Millicent's only daughter, Philippa Garrett Fawcett, for several years has been connected with the education officers department of the London County Council.

QUIET WEDDING ON SATURDAY

Miss Gwendolyn Rowena Rendle Becomes Bride of Mr. Harold McLachlan, Duncan

A quiet wedding took place on Saturday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Duncan, Empress Avenue, when Gwendolyn Rowena, elder daughter of Mr. George Rendle, Wark Street and Mr. Harold McLachlan, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Duncan, of Empress Avenue, were united in marriage.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of ivory satin and lace, fashioned with tight-fitting bodice and circular skirt falling to the ankles at the back. She wore a hand-embroidered veil, fashioned in cap style, caught on either side with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and white heather.

Her only attendant was Miss Kathleen Knapton, who wore a dress of shell pink georgette and a dainty mousetail hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and mauve sweet peas. The groom was supported by Mr. Ernest Bray.

A reception followed, at which the relatives and immediate friends were

Philadelphia and Chicago Cubs Both Better Than Their Positions

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Marathon Golf has become the latest craze. From various parts of the United States comes reports of long distance pasture pool shooters winning merrily over the less pursuing the pill lions hours over many parassangs. Maybe the next thing we will be hearing is that famous Mr. "Cash and Carry" Pyle is staging a golf marathon for a $25,000 prize. However, if he doesn't have any more financial success with it than his bunion derby he better quit before he starts.

Golfers all over the United States are catching the endurance germ and contests are breaking out. At Rock Island, Ill., the other day Harvey Griggs and Harold Steik established what is believed to be a record by playing 126 holes in fourteen and a half hours. At the end of the strenuous fight both said they felt well and intended to play at least eighteen holes the following day.

But Marathon golfing records vanished into thin air the other day when Ralph Jesse, just out of high school, won the annual marathon golf tournament at Indian Lake, near Youngstown, Pa. Between the hours of 6:47 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Jesse played 165 holes consecutively. He wore out three caddies on the long trek. Jesse declared he would do better next time as he spent too much time looking for lost balls. Jesse used ten balls during the grind. His best score was forty-two and highest fifty-four. As a reward he received a loving cup.

Here's a break for members of the Aroostook Valley Golf Club of Fort Fairfield, Me. The course of this club is in Maine, but the nineteenth hole and the clubhouse are across the boundary in Canada, where liquors can be served. The club has arranged for parking space on the Maine side of the line. Thus there will be no interference from immigration officials, since none of the machines will be driven across the boundary. Provision has been made to guard the unusual privileges the club affords, the membership having been limited to 150.

Sammy Mandell has displayed his right to hold the world's lightweight championship. On Friday night at Chicago he turned back the determined thrust of Tony Canzoneri, New York Italian, and former featherweight champion in ten rounds. Although he had not fought for nearly a year when he soundly whipped Jimmy McLarnin of Vancouver, the champion displayed great speed and boxing ability, for which he is noted.

Thursday will witness the opening of the season's horse racing, when the heavyweights will commence galloping at the mile track at Colwood. With some of the best ponies on the continent quartered here, this year's meets at Colwood and the Willamette will, no doubt, pass all others as far as first class racing goes. No doubt there will be record crowds at Colwood for the opening day and the old turnstiles will be clicking merrily as the fans go to watch their favorites romp around the oval.

Many boxing fans are wondering just how Tommy is coming along in the light heavyweights, would stack up against Max Schmeling, latest foreign threat for the crown vacated by Gene Tunney. Could Tommy, who has announced his intention of forsaking the light heavyweight ranks for the heavier division, southpaw Schmeling dizzy or would Max bob up under a jab and hang one on Tom's button?

With a clear brain, keen eye, fighting instinct, courage, ten years' experience, arms big enough to tie up any heavyweights effectively, sturdy legs that will go at top speed for any modern distance and a left hand that will score a great many points, Loughran would be a tough man for any heavyweight to tackle.

Loughran says he intends to toughen himself by contact with the blacksmith's hammer at $25 a week. This seems kind of funny when he can earn thousands of dollars for just a few minutes' work in a ring. Bob Fitzsimmons was a blacksmith and he also was lighter than most of the men he met.

The biggest surprise that has tickled Connie Mack's penman has been this season by Connie's own admission, in Pitcher Bill Shores, who remains to star in the role of fairy prince where he was expected a few short weeks ago to start a one-way journey almost any moment to where the cows are mooing and the potato bugs are cooing.

For Bill Shores, the sensational rookie whose five wins and other victories saved just about represent the gap that keeps this pennant race from going home, was not picked to be another country boy who could make good in the big city.

Connie Mack couldn't "see" Shores down in the training camp in the spring. It was kind of an optical illusion for him, as he is so stout that when he stood on the main stem of Port Myers he hit the rest of the town.

But that was the reason Connie couldn't see him. He was too rubicund to enter into Mr. Mack's picture of what a pennant ensemble should look like.

If you'd have told the tall tutor that Shores was a fairy prince in disguise he'd probably have thought you were standing in the sun too much.

But you live and learn even at Connie's age. The pennant pilot exercised his usual patience with Shores. It pained him to look at Bill's corpulence, to think of all that weight crushing down the poor little clefts in Shibe park, but he delayed the signing of the walking papers.

Athletics May Shatter Record Of Many Years

Connie Mack's Crew Traveling at Gait That Bids Fair to Break Mark of 116 Games Won, Set Twenty-three Years Ago by the Cubs of Frank Chance; Yankees Split Double-header With Cleveland; Cubs Continue Wild Dash by Win Over Brooklyn.

The week-end fighting along the major league front was all in favor of the two leading teams; not very much, it is true, but still in their favor.

With the Pittsburgh Pirates rained out on Saturday and idle yesterday, the Chicago Cubs occupied their time by turning back the Brooklyn Robins in two games, and so stretching the lead to six and one-half games. The Philadelphia Athletics played a bruising 8-8 tie with the St. Louis Browns on Saturday and took their ease yesterday, while the New York Yanks were dividing a pair with the industrious Indians. This left the margin of the Mackmen at eleven and a half games just where it was forty-eight hours ago, but with the important difference that one game of the lead was transferred from the relatively non-essential won column to the vital line of figures detailing games lost.

The Yankees now have lost ten games more than the flying Mackes, who are moving at a gait which might possibly level that twenty-three-year-old record of 116 games won by the Cubs, of Frank Chance.

Some 55,000 of the faithful turned out on the Sabbath to see the Yankees fend off their current jinx team, the Cleveland Indians. The champions hit hard behind Old Tom Zachary in the opener to win by 12-0 but a general pitching blow-up in the second clash saw the Indians score by 14-6. Young Wes Farrell was knocked from the box, but so were Mickey Vernon and other Yankees. The Indians got nine in the ninth to pull out the decision.

Ed Morris held the recumbent Chicago White Sox to two small hits to win by 6-0. The Boston Red Sox had a fine hitting afternoon with seventeen safe drives. The Detroit Tigers closed out the American League programme by winning a rough double-header from the Senators at Washington 10-5 and 13-11.

Cubs Continue Their Mad Dash

The mad dash of the Cubs continued yesterday when Uncle Wilbert Robinson dared to expose a left-hander, William Watson Clark, to the fire of the Bruins. Clark did very well against the heavy guns of the Chicago array, but succumbed by 6-4 when Charlie Grimm, the only left-handed swinger on the McCarthy club, connected for a single with men on second and third.

Piggs Stephenson contributed a home run to the Chicago attack while Kiki Cuyler came through with two singles and a double. Sheriff Fred Blake attended to the sniping for Boss McCarthy, and altogether the Robbies swung at him particularly, he rose to each emergency. Some 40,000 happy Chicagoans saw the battle.

Plugging his side arm ball from whatever background of whack whirled a small Sunday crowd at St. Louis provided, Sylvester Johnson blanked the Boston Braves by a score of 5-0. Art Delaney was somewhat of a problem for the home boys, but permitted the Cards to bunch their few blows. Earnest Orsatti struck the home run zone, Jackie Mauborgne subjugated the hard-swinging Phillies to win by 7-1 at Cincinnati in the remaining National League contest. The Phils mustered only five safe blows against Johnson, while the Reds combined Willoughby and Collins for eleven.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
New York, Aug. 5.—The Yankees ended their home stand against the west by dividing two games with Cleveland here yesterday. The home forces won the opener by 12 to 0, behind Tom Zachary's fine pitching, but Herb Pennock and others cracked up in the second game which the visitors won 14 to 6, through a ninth inning rally for nine runs. Zachary's victory was his seventh straight, and he ran his string of scoreless innings to sixteen.

YOUNG STARS WIN HONORS

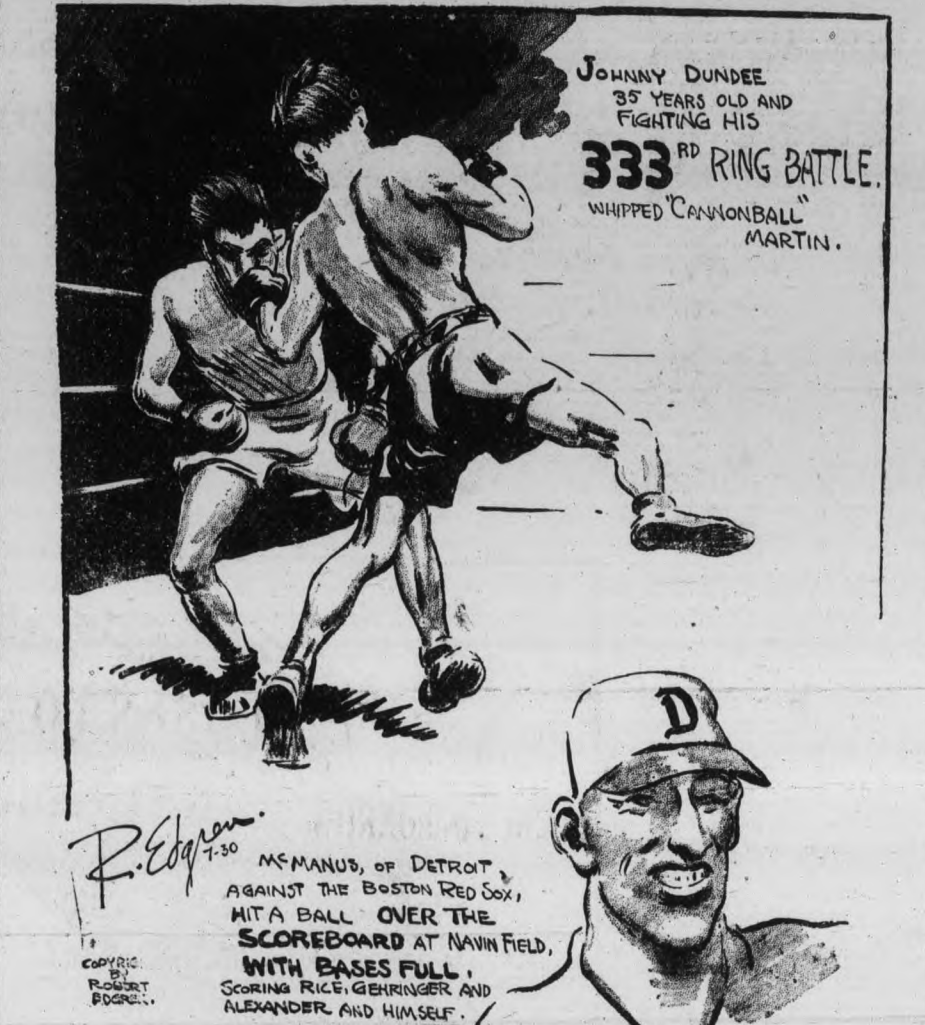

Berkeley Bell and Gregory Mangin Capture Doubles Title at Seabright

Seabright, N.J., Aug. 5.—Sweeping on from the point where rain halted their match Saturday, the youthful team of Berkeley Bell of Austin, Texas, and Gregory Mangin, Newark, N.J., defeated the Old Dixie Cup pair, Richard N. Williams II. of Philadelphia and Watson Washburn, New York, to win the doubles title in the annual Seabright invitation tennis tournament. The score was 7-5, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3.

The youngsters, placed eleventh and thirteenth in the United States ranking, showed as great superiority in yesterday's dry weather as they did in Saturday's rain and lost but two games in running out the set and match.

The first three sets of the match were played Saturday during a heavy rain which finally halted the struggle after the veterans had rallied to win the third set and were trailing 1-2 in the fourth.

Miracles of Sport

Exhausted Carrier Pigeon Lands At Saanich Arm Home

Exhausted after apparently a long flight, carrier pigeon, colored a brick red with a touch of white, landed at the home of George Carto, Saanich Arm, last Tuesday. The bird, after following Carto around like a pet dog, was taken in and fed. Mr. Carto then noticed a rubber band around its leg and after taking this off he released the bird and it continued on its flight.

The rubber leg band was marked No. 572-N. On the inside of the band appeared the number 174. Mr. Carto would like to know if the bird reached its home left safely.

C. Christopher And F. Morgan Tied In Medal Round

In the men's monthly medal competition staged at the Macaulay Point Golf Club yesterday C. Christopher and F. Morgan tied for first place, each with net scores of 61. Christopher had a gross score of 77 and Morgan an 81. W. S. Morris finished in third place with a net 63.

R. Foulis Jr. Is Winner of Men's Medal at Uplands

In the men's monthly medal competition staged at the Uplands Golf Club yesterday R. Foulis Jr. was the winner with a gross score of 80, which his handicap of 15 reduced to 65. Major Aiken and A. G. Mackie tied for second place each with net scores of 66.

Shawnigan Lake softballers played two games at Langford yesterday, defeating the Colonist 12-10 and losing to Sooke 10-6. The team has been invited to play a game at Shawnigan Lake next Sunday.

Polehampton's XI Wins Match With Seven Wickets Up

When A. W. Stevenson, playing for H. Polehampton's XI, bettered a century by eighteen runs and A. Y. Copeman scored 63, with W. Mulbray knocking out 33, Polehampton's team overcame down to a 257-223 defeat at the Up-island grounds on Saturday.

In addition to winning the match with seven wickets to spare, Polehampton's eleven distinguished itself by having Mulbray score 31 runs in one over.

OVER HUNDRED WILL SEEK CANADA TITLE

Five Victoria Golfers Included in Entry List For Amateur Play at Jasper
Sandy Somerville, Present Champ, Entered; Many U.S. Stars Entered

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 5.—With entries closed this week, it is now definitely established that more than 100 amateurs will seek the golfing crown of Canada at the annual R.C.C.A. golf tournament, which takes place at Jasper National Park from August 19 to 24.

Teams have joined the lists in the fight for the Willingdon Cup, emblematic of the interprovincial championship, from every province except the Maritimes, which found it impossible to enter this year. Saskatchewan was the last to enter and a keen fight is assured.

Post-closing entries received from now on will be dealt with at an executive meet in Winnipeg on August 14. The number of entries now stands at 101. Fifteen United States golfers have entered the tourney.

SHARE HONORS
Ontario and Manitoba share the honors for entering the largest contingent in the Canadian classic as each has a representative of twenty-one players. British Columbia, making its first bid for the championship, has entered nineteen players; Alberta, thirteen; Quebec seven, and Saskatchewan, another new-comer, six. Five former winners are contending. They are Sandy Somerville, London, winner in 1926 and 1928; Don Carrick, Scarborough, 1925-27; Frank Thompson, Mississauga, 1923-24; C. C. Fraser, Kanawak, 1922, and W. J. Thompson, Mississauga, 1923. There are also some notable runners-up in the fray. Winnipeg has the largest representation of any single city, its club sending Manitoba's complete squad of twenty-one members.

On the opening day, the thirty-six-hole qualifying round will be played. The thirty-two players bringing home the lowest gross scores will make up the championship flight. They play one round of match play, thirty-six holes each day from Tuesday on, with the finals on Saturday.

THE ENTRY LIST

The list of entries is as follows: Justice G. E. Adams, Winnipeg; K. C. Allen, Victoria; Philip Armour, Lake Bluff, Ill.; R. P. Baker, Vancouver; B. N. Bawf, Winnipeg; H. L. Bawf, Winnipeg; J. R. N. Bell, Vancouver; J. B. Booth, Winnipeg; Newton Brady, Bayfield; Newton Byers, Saskatoon; Alfred Bull, British Columbia; Jack Merron, Mississauga; Guy Carpenter Jr., New York; A. C. Carrick, Scarborough; Don Carrick, Scarborough; W. Casey, Winnipeg; C. G. Cassels, Toronto; T. Clark, Kamloops, B.C.; W. A. Clark, Kanawak; C. Coville, B.C.; J. A. Cranno, Vancouver; W. Clark, Oakridge; Noble Penn, Bradford; George Curtis, Bradford; Jack Cuthbert, Edmonton; D. A. Darling, Whitlock; Harvey Day, Edmonton; D'Arcy, Mississauga; Doherty, Mississauga; Chick Evans, Chicago; O. C. Fraser, Kanawak; J. D. Fraser, British Columbia; Galt, Winnipeg; R. Gelliey, British Columbia; V. R. Gravin, Victoria; Dr. George Hall, Victoria; W. Hall, Jasper Park; Heide Held, New York; J. H. Henley, Edmonton; H. McD. Henry, Toronto;

Brilliant Junior Star Is Winner Of Tennis Title

Los Angeles Youngster Displays Great Fighting Spirit to Defeat Laurason Driscoll 4-6, 7-5, 13-11, 7-5 in Men's Singles Final of Western Canada Championships; Hope Leeming, Paired With Mervyn Griffin, Captures Mixed Doubles Crown; Dot Weisel Is Winner of Women's Singles.

Vancouver, August 5.—In one of the finest exhibitions of fighting tennis seen in a titular tournament in Vancouver, Jack Tidball of Los Angeles added to his growing list of 1929 championships by taking the men's singles against Laurason Driscoll of San Francisco, in the final of the Western Canada Championships at the Vancouver club on Saturday afternoon. Tidball is still in the junior division yet he has enough class in his great variety of shots to stamp him as one of the stars of the next year or so in national tournaments in the United States. He took the match in four sets, staging his wonderful display in the third set to win at 13-11 after being down 1-5. The scores: 4-6, 7-5, 13-11, 7-5.

Dot Weisel of San Francisco won her fourth straight tournament by defeating Hope Leeming of Victoria in straight sets, 6-4, 6-0. Miss Leeming took a lead of two games after the initial one had been won by Miss Weisel, but played a careful and hard-driving placing game to control the balance of the match. The scores, 6-4, 6-0.

Hope Leeming was the only Canadian to win a title when, pairing with Mervyn Griffin of San Francisco, she won from Berndt and Miss Weisel by 6-2, 7-5. The women's doubles went to Miss Weisel and Mrs. Gross, who defeated the Macfarlane sisters in one of the prettiest exhibitions of the week, the scores being 9-7, 6-4.

The veterans' doubles is to be played this afternoon.

The men's doubles final between Tidball and Hanna and Gove and Plymire all Californians, was a battle royal from start to finish. Tidball took the court after his gruelling match with Driscoll and appeared tired but he was given wonderful support by the left-handed Hanna, whose overhead volleying was the big feature.

The mixed event, too, was a fine exhibition, Griggs especially starting with his short cross-cuts, while Miss Leeming placed her drives from the back court with deadly accuracy.

DRISCOLL PLAYS WELL
Driscoll played much better tennis in the opening games of his final with Tidball than he did in the first. He was leading 4-2. Tidball took service from love and Driscoll followed suit. Tidball again won his delivery, this time after five games, but Driscoll won the set on service after Tidball had netted twice, lost a point on an out of court and a placement ace by Driscoll.

Tidball serving first in the second set won his game from 40-15 and game followed service until the younger man won the fifth game, but Driscoll made it 3-2. Tidball made it 4-2 on Driscoll's delivery but Tidball fell into a series of errors and outs, dropping three straight games. Driscoll then leading 5-4. Driscoll served three double faults in the tenth game which went to Tidball, who ran out the next two games to win the set at 7-5.

The third set saw the most sensational tennis of the day when Tidball staged his great comeback from 5-1. He took service from love, then served fourth game, with Driscoll serving went to deuce eight times. Driscoll eventually winning to lead at 3-1 and also at 4-1. He took service from love, then taking five games in a row to lead at 5-5, although Driscoll was point set in the ninth game on Tidball's delivery. Driscoll won the twelfth game. From then on the match was sewed, with honors even until the twenty-third game, when Driscoll lost his service and the match. About five times during the match Driscoll seemed close to win but netted on comparably even chances.

SHANKS GAINS SECOND PLACE IN HILLCLIMB

Local Motorcyclist Takes Honors at New Westminster; Several Riders Over

One prize in the hill climb held yesterday at New Westminster by the "Flying 30" Motorcycle Club, fell to the lot of the local riders who went over for the event.

Riding the "45" Scout with which he gained second honors on the same hill earlier in the year, Bob Shanks again topped the list in the amateur event. E. Baker of Seattle, also riding a Scout, secured the first prize, making a distance of 117 feet, while Shanks registered 105 feet, 7 inches, gaining second honors by five inches from the third place competitor.

Motor trouble prevented George Reece from riding in the climb.

A loose surface caused a blinding dust, considerably lowered the marks made by all riders.

Twelve local riders witnessed the event, including the following, besides Reece and Shanks: F. Girardin, J. Lake, L. Green, J. Wheeler, L. Scott, R. Shanks, A. West, W. B. Dillabough, W. Cross and R. Pope.

JOKERS WILL BATTLE SONS

Noble and Stickney Twirl in Amateur League Play-off Game To-night

With Jack Noble of the Sons and Wes Stickney of the Jokers selected for pitching duties, these two teams will meet again to-night at the Royal Athletic Park at 6:15 o'clock in an attempt to decide the leadership of the Senior Amateur ball league.

Last Friday these two clubs met in an effort to decide first place but battled to a 7-7 score after eight innings of exciting ball.

Noble, who pitched a fine brand of ball a couple of years ago, is expected to hold the heavy hitting Jokers in check. Stickney is twirling good ball at present, so a real pitcher's battle is looked for.

Manitoba Referees Fail to "Walk-out"

Winnipeg, Aug. 5.—The threatened "strike" of the Manitoba Referees' Association did not materialize Saturday.

The referees, threatening a "walk-out" unless guaranteed the support of clubs and officials, met executive members of the Manitoba Football Association on Saturday, but the meeting was adjourned until Tuesday.

Sid Summers Sets New Swimming Mark For This Province

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—Sid Summers, swimming under the colors of White Rock Amateur Swimming Club, set a new British Columbia record of 1 min. 25 sec. in the 100-yard free style swim at the annual White Rock gala yesterday. Pat Haley, former University of British Columbia star, and also swimming for White Rock, was second, and "Tyke" Abernethy, of Crescent Beach, third.

SIXTEEN LADIES' RINKS TO START PLAY TUESDAY

Women to Strive For Qualifying Honors in Capital Bowling Tourney at Burnside

Mainland Club Well Represented; Edmonton Club Sends Entry to Big Meet

Doubles and rink women players from Point Grey, South Vancouver, Burnside, Victoria, Edmonton and Terminal clubs will open their section of the Capital City lawn bowling tournament at the Burnside greens to-morrow. At 1:30 o'clock sixteen teams will take their stand on the grass carpet and strive for qualifying honors in the opening day's play. Six other rinks, entered in the team contests, have drawn bye and will start play the following day at the same time.

From the mainland are coming six women's rinks to compete with the local teams for first honors in the women's section. These will open play at the Burnside playground at 9:30 to-morrow morning. To meet them seven strong local rinks have been selected and should be able to turn aside the visiting contingents.

In this section, rinks from Point Grey, Victoria, Burnside, Stanley Park, Terminal, South Vancouver and New Westminster will compete.

The draw for the doubles and rink games follows:

Davis Cup Stars to Play Here

DR. JACK WRIGHT

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 5.—Dr. Jack Wright and Willard Crocker, Montreal, first and second ranking players in Canada and both members of the Canadian Davis Cup team, left here Saturday for a lengthy exhibition tour in the western provinces. They will stop at Chapeau, Ont., for a match and then depart for Winnipeg where another series will be played. They will arrive in Calgary August 10 and will play exhibition games on the final day of the Alberta tennis tournament.

Other western cities on their itinerary are Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Red Deer, Lethbridge, Edmonton, Kamloops, Vancouver, Victoria and possibly Nelson.

Three safeties out of four trips to the plate.

Collecting a total of sixteen hits, including six for extra bases, the Capitals handed Nanaimo, leaders of the Northern section of the Island Baseball League, a 15-7 setback at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday. The Capitals were hitting the ball all over the lot with Art Webster, their first sacker, showing the way with three hits out of as many times at bat.

The Capitals had two big innings. The first and sixth, scoring six runs in the former and nine in the latter. In the first inning the local champions got away to a flying start when five hits, together with three errors by Nanaimo, gave them six runs. However, Nanaimo kept plugging along and they scored two runs in the second and three more in the third.

NANAIMO TAKES LEAD
Nanaimo went into a one-run lead in the fourth when two hits and an error let them bring home two runners.

The Capitals went on a regular batting spree in the sixth, and after they had scored four runs Gallus, the Nanaimo hurler, was replaced by Wilson. However, he fared little better, and before the Caps were retired they had scored three runs in the sixth and three more in the seventh.

The Capitals' pitcher Gallus for thirteen hits, while he collected three off Wilson. Norm Foster, the Nanaimo pitcher, was touched up for twelve safeties, while he struck out a like number. He failed to display his regular form, relying most of the time on a slow ball.

"Steamboat" James, playing left field for Nanaimo, was the leading hitter of the game with five hits out of as many trips to the rubber.

Hang Up Third Successive Win; Colwood Second

Crack Seattle Team Finishes Fourteen Holes Ahead of Local Representatives; Winners 97 Down to "Old Man Par" in Annual Team Competition at Colwood Saturday; Harold Brynjolfsson of Uplands Plays Well.

Aided by the sparkling play of their fourth string man, Alex. Duncan, erstwhile Seattle City champion, the Rainier Golf Club won for the third successive year the P.N.W. Punch Bowl, and the right to keep for good the coveted trophy. All day Saturday, over the course of the Colwood Golf Club, seventy-eight low handicap men, representing thirteen six-man teams from the golf clubs of Seattle, Tacoma, Everett and Victoria, did battle with par and, as everyone expected, came out but second best. These seventy-eight men, all accomplished golfers, were at the day's close, 1,693 holes down to the "Old Man," who, in the long run, is probably the best golfer in the world.

COLWOOD LOSES TO RAINIER

Seattle Golfers Gain Twelve-point Lead in Match For Capt. Langley Cup

Gaining a total of forty-five points to Colwood's thirty-three, Rainier Golf Club, of Seattle, captured the first half of the inter-club match yesterday at the local links by a total of twelve points.

The second half of the match for the Capt. Langley Cup will be played at Seattle in the near future.

The visitors brought over an exceptionally strong side. Jack Matson and Norman Wallace, two of Colwood's best players, were unable to gain a single point for their team, the former losing to Haakons, and Wallace to Shields. Four bats were played in the morning and singles in the afternoon.

TRAVELS 70,000 MILES ON "BIKE"

J. R. Crawford, Sixty-two-year-old Cyclist, Has Still to Circle Globe

Travel which totals something like 70,000 miles, but has not yet taken him around the world, has fallen to the lot of John R. W. Crawford, a former police officer and soldier of Sunderland, England, who arrived here last week pushing the same bicycle with which he started his tour ten years ago.

At sixty-two years of age, Mr. Crawford is planning to tour South America by bicycle. He has just completed a journey to Victoria from Montreal which took him since June 12. With all his worldly goods packed in his bicycle, he has been following this sort of life since 1919 and believes he has covered a greater distance than any other cyclist rider in the world.

MANY COUNTRIES.
In ten years, however, this is the first time he has left Europe and Asia, having visited the following countries: Norway, Sweden, Holland, Belgium, France, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Hungary, Roumania, Serbia, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Turkey, Italy, Spain, Egypt, Palestine, Syria, Mesopotamia, India and Ceylon. Now he aspires to South America, Australia and then Japan. After that he will probably complete a circle of the globe.

Being a pensioner of the Sunderland police force, which he served for twenty-six years, Mr. Crawford's first destination on his arrival was the city police station. He is staying with Sergeant T. Hestley of the local force.

IN JAIL THIRTY TIMES
Jails, both inside and out, are nothing new to him, for he has been incarcerated no less than thirty times. These occasions were during his journeys through the Balkans, where he was regarded as a spy.
Only once has this adventurous cyclist met with an accident. Nor was it a speedy automobile which caused the trouble but a lumbering bullock cart in Spain. He was thrown from his machine with a badly sprained and bruised shoulder but soon recovered and continued his travels.

VETERANS STAGE JOLLY OUTING

Pro Patria Branch of Legion Hosts at Beaver Lake Picnic

The fourth annual picnic of the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion held on Saturday at Beaver Lake was the great success the thoughtful and energetic committee, composed of members of the women's auxiliary and the parent body under the chairmanship of Comrade T. Davies, planned it to be. Dads, mothers and children in number more than 250, were kept busy throughout the day.

The happiness of all was promoted in a variety of ways, bathing, free ice cream, numerous sports with good prizes at stake. Several large tallyhoes were used to transport the picnicers to the lake, while many journeyed in their own cars.

The sports were in charge of a committee under H. G. Thatcher, and were keenly protested. The members of the women's auxiliary under Mrs. Drury, were in charge of the ice cream and arrangements for supper. Much enjoyment and amusement was given by a comic band race arranged by V. J. Cobbett and the disguise of W. Farmer who was the chief attraction of the little tots numbering some thirty-six, who chased him and were rewarded by special gifts.

The prizes were distributed by the president, C. A. Gill.

The prize list of the sporting events was as follows:

Girls, 5 and 6 years (special)—1, Dorothy Weatherall; 2, Frances Berry; 3, Lillian Fletcher.

Children under 9 (handicap)—1, Malcolm Bissenden; 2, Robert Brown; 3, Nancy Harper.

Girls 11 and under—1, Molly Harper; 2, Annie Adamson; 3, Nancy Harper.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Winnipeg, Aug. 5.—Unable to find employment, Charles J. Redford, a laborer, attempted suicide in a novel manner here last night. Securing an iron bar, Redford climbed a hydro-electric pole. He touched a live wire with the bar and was thrown to the ground. He suffered severe burns on the face and body and was unconscious when picked up.

To Prevent "Sun-glare"

For motorists, golfers, campers and others whose eyes are affected by the glare of sunlight, we recommend light-filtering lenses. These lenses are made from a special glass which absorbs the harmful and irritating ultra-violet rays in sunlight. The color is quite inconspicuous and blends well with the complexion, and they give a sense of complete comfort in sunlight. Our optometrist will be pleased to have an opportunity of showing you the advantages of these lenses.

Dominion Government to Have Striking Exhibit At Provincial Fair Here

The striking exhibit which the Dominion Government has at the Calgary fair this year will be one of its outstanding features at the Victoria Fall Fair opening at the Willows, August 19. It brings very cleverly and convincingly to the attention of both producer and consumer the opportunity for building up and extending the sale of choice livestock products in a market undergoing rapid industrial expansion, undertaking extensive development of great natural resources and securing a buying power of exceptional strength.

This exhibit appeals directly and forcefully to producers in these western provinces, offering them a sound argument for improvement in quality and type of their livestock so as to meet the growing demands of the Canadian consumers for choice quality meats, for which they are prepared to pay a good price, provided certainty is guaranteed. The part that the Federal livestock branch, in co-operation with producers and consumers, will play in putting this project across is graphically described in the exhibit.

Emphasis is placed on the beef-grading service which is to be introduced this year. The Federal Department of Agriculture utilizes this opportunity to tell the producers and consumers something about this new movement to help the consumer to recognize good beef, an article for which he has a preference, but cannot at present purchase with confidence.

The exhibit shows exactly how the two top grades of beef will be branded and marked. Choice beef carcasses will carry a red marking, and good beef a blue marking. Every piece of graded beef bought by the consumer can be identified through this official brand or mark.

The central panel of the exhibit portrays in a colorful manner the tremendous natural resources of the Dominion as to water power, mining and lumbering, which form the strength of the buying power of the public. Circular in shape and backed by a revolving drum, the waterfalls, flowing streams, passing ships, moving aeroplanes, all combine to constitute a graphic picture.

Flanking the central panel or panorama are eight sections, displaying twenty-four scenes, through which is indicated the manner in which the market for good livestock and livestock products may be improved. The effectiveness of the grading or branding of good quality beef, eggs, poultry, pork, etc., as a means for satisfying the natural desire of the consumer for choice commodities is well portrayed. This preference in its turn reflects itself in a more secure and satisfactory market for good quality livestock and livestock products.

The eight-minute talk over the public address system built into the exhibit, gives a graphic description of the meaning of the exhibit.

The work done on the scenes is particularly worthy of mention—the appearance and sitting down whenever they appear on the canvas, their eyes sparkle, their ears are sharply pointed in alert manner, and their whole pose is such as to give the spectator the impression of their lifelikeness. And the choice cuts of beef, lamb and pork shown are such as to make the mouth water for a meal of the tasty-looking meats.

The first junior tennis tournament was held on Friday afternoon on the courts of the Metchochin Tennis Club, between Langford and Metchochin. Among visitors from Langford were Mrs. Bayles, Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. Norman Brown and Mrs. Spinks. Tea was served by Mesdames J. M. Milne, T. Barclay, A. D. Ellwood, A. Georgeson, J. D. McCreight, and members of the Junior Metchochin club. Mr. and Mrs. Bradford acted as umpires. Those taking part in the tournament were:

Langford team, girls—Wilma Pike, Ada Simpson, Thelma and Christine Broderstone. Boys—Jack Wilkinson, Kenneth Hinks, John Pennington and Perry Taft.

Metchochin team, girls—Molly Cornwall, Frances Tremayne, Valerie Ellwood and Gwendolyn Meredith Jones. Boys—Maureen Johnson, James Milne, Ira Brown, Trevor Page and Alan Barclay.

The visitors won by fourteen points. Langford has invited the Metchochin Junior Club to a return visit on August 13. Details of play were as follows: Wilma Pike and Jack Wilkinson defeated Molly Cornwall and James Milne, 6-5. Frances Tremayne and Alan Barclay defeated Ada Simpson and Kenneth Hinks, 8-3. Christine Broderstone and John Pennington defeated Molly Cornwall and James Milne, 6-5. Thelma Broderstone and Perry Taft defeated Gwendolyn Meredith-Jones and Ira Brown, 8-3. Kenneth Hinks and Jack Wilkinson defeated Maureen Johnson and Trevor Page, 11-0. Molly Cornwall and Frances Tremayne defeated Wilma Pike and Ada Simpson, 7-4. John Pennington and Perry Taft defeated James Milne and Alan Barclay, 8-3. Gwendolyn Meredith-Jones and Valerie Ellwood defeated Christine Broderstone and Thelma Broderstone.

The demonstrators were given a very thorough and interesting instruction. As an outcome of the music teachers' course at the High School last year, the demonstrators, Mrs. Peter Kennedy, there a public demonstration was given by ten children in the presence of a large number of parents and musical people.

The scene was thoroughly interesting and most inspiring. Picture a class of boys and girls keen and anxious to learn, who only a few days ago knew nothing whatever about music, and here they were, playing a variety of white and black notes of the piano.

Here they were with their note books and piano charts, seated at their desks, quickly answering an hour's session of questions relating to time beats, measures, the difference between note values, position at the piano, how to write in both treble and bass clefs, accents and rhythmic effects, and all in the space of a few days.

In all there were seven exercises given. Throughout the demonstration the first opening with Orchestra Conducting, each member of the class with a baton in his or her hand, conducting as Mrs. Kennedy played some pieces in 2-3, 3-4 and 4-4 time, and all without a single mistake.

In the second exercise the class placed their right hands on the chart before them, rhythmically, and each finger moving independently of the other up and down, repeating the process with the left hand. The third exercise consisted of playing by one or measures with different time signatures, in both clefs, in whole, half and quarter notes. Mrs. Kennedy occasionally sang some of the notes, which were at once detected by the class and corrected, the class in turn constructing their own measures and finishing by a clapping of the hands signifying the duration of the note by the number of hand claps.

In the fourth exercise one member of the class went to the piano and played a short piece with one hand, the class accompanying her by hand clapping, again this being the signal for note duration as played by the pupil. Then Mrs. Kennedy sat at the piano explaining and emphasizing the reason the accent in music should fall on the strong rhythmic examples, the class pointing out the different time measures.

In exercise five the instructor wrote notes in both clefs, the class declaring

No fewer than one million street accidents, 40,000 of them being fatal, occurred in England in the ten years from 1918 to 1928.

Probates and Administrations issued out of the Supreme Court last week included the following estates:

George Alfred Jones, formerly of Victoria, who died at Pasadena, California, on March 19, 1929; estate $32,992.

Ellen Portway, late of Oak Bay, who died at Victoria on September 15, 1928; estate $1,680.

Oliver Martin, the rescaling of an English probate; British Columbia estate $3,236.

GANGES ENJOYS FINE CONCERT

F. Alyn, Violinist, With Salt Spring Chorus and Soloists, Gives Programme

Ganges, Aug. 3.—Mahon Hall, Ganges was well filled on Wednesday evening when an entertainment, followed by a dance, was given by Frederick Alyn, violinist, assisted by the Misses Lois and Bride Wilson, Doreen and Denise Crofton, Gladys Borradaile, Clary Wilson, Nancy Elliot, Betty Kingsbury and Kitty Allan and in the chorus Miss Helen Dean as vocal soloist. Following is the complete programme:

Chorus and dance: (a) Broadway Melody; (b) Dream Train. Violin Solo: (a) Love's Greeting, Elgar; (b) Mazurka, Weinawson by Frederick Alyn.

Accordian Solo, selected, by W. W. Hagge. Vocal solo: (a) At Dawning, Cadman; (b) Kashmiri, Hope by Miss Dean. Violin solo: (a) Orientale, Cui; (b) Love Song, Cadman by Fredrick Alyn. Tableau: Pagan Love Song by the chorus. Vocal solo: (a) Just a Flower, Denni; (b) The World is Waiting, Seltz by Percy Lovther. Accordian solo, selected. Recitations, selected, by Betty Kingsbury. Violin solo: (a) Adoration, Borovict; (b) Minuet, Paderewski by Fredrick Alyn. Vocal solo—The Desert Song by Miss Helen Dean. Tableau in costume: Deep Night; (b) Money by the chorus. Accompanist, Miss Shirley Wilson.

deciding game of the series, 8 to 0. Both hits off Morris were singles. Ken Williams led the Boston attack with a three-bagger and a homer.

R. H. E. Chicago 0 2 2 Boston 8 17 1 Batteries—Walsh, McKinn and Berg; Morris and Hevings.

NATIONAL LEAGUE Chicago, Aug. 5.—Chicago made it two straight over Brooklyn by winning 6 to 4 yesterday. The victory increased Chicago's lead to six and a half games. Cuyler with three hits led the Cubs' attack, while Stephenson hit a homer.

R. H. E. Brooklyn 4 9 9 Chicago 6 13 0 Batteries—Clark, Moore and Henline; Blake and Taylor.

Cincinnati, Aug. 5.—Jackie May held Philadelphia to five hits here yesterday, and the Reds made it two straight over the Phillies, winning the second game of the series, 7 to 1.

R. H. E. Philadelphia 7 11 1 Cincinnati 1 5 1 Batteries—Willoughby, Collins and Davis; May and Sukeforth.

St. Louis, Aug. 5.—Timely hitting behind the effective pitching of Sylvester Johnson enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to blank the Boston Braves, 5 to 0, yesterday in the second game of the series. It was the fourth straight victory for the Cardinals, Jimmy Wilson, St. Louis catcher, who was banished yesterday by Umpire Magerberth for protesting was back in Magerberth's game, but it was announced that President Heydler had fined him $50.

Manager Bill McKenchie, who was chased out of the park by Magerberth Saturday, escaped without a fine.

R. H. E. Boston 0 7 1 St. Louis 5 8 1 Batteries—Delaney and Spornier; Johnson and Wilson.

COAST LEAGUE Los Angeles, Aug. 5.—The Hollywood Stars gave San Francisco a sound beating in yesterday's double header, taking the first game 4 to 2 and the second 10 to 3. The double victory gave Hollywood the series four games to three.

The opening game was just a case of too much Buzz Wetzel, the star's stellar hurler, for San Francisco. Two errors by his team mates, which enabled the visitors to get their two tallies, were all that prevented a shutout.

Hank Hulvey, another Hollywood pitcher, led his mates to the top heavy victory in the closing game, which clinched the series.

First game—At Los Angeles—San Francisco 2 5 2 Hollywood 4 10 2 Batteries: Jacobs, Couch and Reed; Wetzel and Bassler. Severed.

Second game—R. H. E. San Francisco 3 8 4 Hollywood 10 17 2 Batteries—Whitehill and Hargrave; Braxton, Thomas and Spencer.

Second game—R. H. E. Detroit 13 10 0 Washington 11 15 1 Batteries—Uhl, Yde, Prudhomme, Carroll and Phillips; Burke, Hadley, Brown and Tate.

Boston, Aug. 5.—Ed Morris held the White Sox to two hits here yesterday and the Red Sox won the third and Sewell, Hartley; Zachary, Bangough and Dickey.

Second game—R. H. E. Cleveland 14 17 1 New York 6 13 1 Batteries—Farrell, Shoffner, Miljus and L. Sewell, Myatt; Pennock, Moore, Helmach, Sherid and Dickey.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Detroit rallied in the second game of a doubleheader with Washington, winning 13 to 11, after taking the opening 10 to 5. The second contest was called at the end of the seventh on account of darkness. The Senators were leading 7 to 0, at the end of the third inning, but Burke weakened and three succeeding Washington pitchers failed to stop the Tigers.

First game—R. H. E. Detroit 10 17 2 Washington 5 11 3 Batteries—Whitehill and Hargrave; Braxton, Thomas and Spencer.

Second game—R. H. E. Detroit 13 10 0 Washington 11 15 1 Batteries—Uhl, Yde, Prudhomme, Carroll and Phillips; Burke, Hadley, Brown and Tate.

Boston, Aug. 5.—Ed Morris held the White Sox to two hits here yesterday and the Red Sox won the third and

Don't Pity Poor Young Men Pity Poor Old Men

GIVEN health and strength young people who are poor should not be an object of pity. Rather should one strive to arouse ambition in them. It is the poor old folks that require help.

You know of poor old mothers who are shifted around amongst sons and daughters for three or four months at a time, because they have no financial means.

Well, then, do you yourself want to be in this position some day? Do you want your wife to suffer? Not if you can help it! Then, provide now for an income for either or both of you while your earning powers permit it.

A reasonable premium will enable you to buy substantial protection in a Confederation Life Policy. Write now for pamphlet entitled "No Matter What Happens" which tells how this may be done. Address:

Nan laughed, too, and the magnificent cake was cut. So that Maude might not have her feelings hurt, Nan forced herself to eat all of the thin slice she had taken upon her own plate, but Maude might have flavoured it with quinine instead of almond; the bride would not have known the difference.

The second incident occurred immediately after dinner. Nan Carroll was destined that night to be spared nothing. If innocent, blundering little Curtis had been a graduate of the Institution, he could not have devised more exquisite tortures for the girl who had, in all humility, agreed to become a mother to him.

Quite as a matter of course John Curtis Morgan led the way into the drawing-room, Curtis dragging at his hand and chattering blithely. Nan forced her reluctant feet to follow them into the room dominated by Iris Morgan's beautiful, almost life-size portrait. She had not long to wonder what revenge Iris would exact of the interloper.

Her husband paused at a table to fill his pipe, but Curtis impatiently and automatically dragged him to the centre of the room, so that they faced the fireplace and the portrait.

"Listen, father! Listen!" Curtis commanded shrilly, pointing to the portrait of his mother. "Do you think Nan is a pretty as my other mother? Do you, father? I think she almost is, don't you, father?"

Nan's heart stood still for a second, then lunged sickeningly. She was glad she stood behind them, that she could not see Morgan's face. Glad, too, that he could not see hers.

Before her husband had time to answer, Nan's clear, friendly little laugh rang out. "I know what I think, young Curtis, my lad!" she cried, her voice convincingly gay and firm. "I think it's time for you to go to bed, or you'll get a black mark on your health chart to-morrow."

It was a potent threat. The child released his father's hand and came toward his new mother, obediently, if reluctantly. "You'll come upstairs with me for just a teeny while, won't you, Nan? Good night, father."

When Nan returned to the drawing-room ten minutes later, the feel of Curtis's kisses still upon her lips, she found her husband half-sitting, half-lying in his own particular armchair beside the fireplace, his head thrown back, his narrowed eyes fixed upon the portrait of the wife who had deserted him.

Nan was about to turn and flee, unable to endure more, when her husband band caught the faint rustle of her tulle skirt. He was instantly upon his feet, a smile of welcome routing the brooding melancholy from his distinguished, austere face.

"If he says 'Alone'—at last!" I'll scream," Nan said to herself as she waited for him to reach her. "For we aren't alone! We'll never be alone as long as she sits there, mocking us, smiling, gloating because she knows he'll always be here—"

"Well, Nan," Morgan put an arm about the girl's bare shoulders and pressed her close against his side. For a breathless moment Nan thought he was going to kiss her. But he drew her gently along with him to a small Empire sofa, so placed that Iris's portrait was not visible from it. Was that why he chose it? Nan wondered, but was grateful.

When they were seated, Nan taking exaggerated pains with the arranging of her long, poppy-splashed skirt, Morgan again put his right arm about her shoulders and with his left hand gathered up both her cold little hands, lifted them, brushed his lips against the rosy finger-tips.

"Glad you're here, Nan?" he asked at last, huskily.

"Yes," she could not manage more just then, with her whole body trembling to his touch.

His arm, lightened about her shoulders, "I'm—happier than I've been for a long time, Nan dear. It hasn't been a very orthodox wedding day, has it?" he added regretfully.

"But—the worst is over, I think."

Curtis . . . Of course you know he adores you," he blundered on, his voice thick with embarrassment. "We can't expect him to understand—can we?"

"No," Nan said simply, but her voice sounded cold, odd. Oh, why didn't he kiss her? She had waited so long. Nothing would matter, nothing could hurt very deeply, if he loved her, even a little.

"It's the rotten luck that we had to postpone our—trip," her husband went on haltingly. "Poor little Nan! Precious little Nan!" And he laid his cheek against her shinning brown hair, his arm crushing her shoulders with sudden vehemence.

Nan waited, holding her breath, her heart beating so loudly that she was afraid he would hear his clamorous despairing message, "I love you! I love you! Don't you love me at all? Surely you would kiss her. But he lifted his head began to speak again, in that halting, embarrassed way which was agony to her!

"Of course you're do to whatever you like with the house. Throw out anything or everything, do it over to suit yourself, dear Nan—"

"He means the portrait, but he can't bring himself to say so in so many words," Nan interpreted dreadingly. "I shan't take it down. It's up to him—"

But he was going on, doggedly. "I want you to have exactly the kind of home you like. If you—don't like this house—"

"Oh, but I do!" Nan interrupted, her heart pounding instantly to the pain which dragged at his voice. He loved the house. She would suffer anything rather than uproot him.

"I thought perhaps . . . But I'll not pretend that I'm not glad and relieved that you like it," her husband confessed, his voice almost normal. "Don't hesitate to make any changes, though. I want it to be your home. . . . You can forget about me when you make your plans. I'll like anything you do. About my room—"

And Nan's heart plunged. "I'm afraid I've grown rather fond of the little guest room, as we still call it. If you'll permit me to share your bath—" you're taking the big guest room, Curtis tells me—I'll promise always to leave it spick and span for you—"

Above the roading of blood in her ears Nan heard Estelle's voice, as if from a great distance.

"A telephone call for you, Mr. Morgan. A lady. She says her name is Mrs. Nina Blackhall—"

"Good Lord! Nina Blackhall!" John Curtis Morgan exclaimed incredulously. "I wonder if this means that she's on her stepson's side. Will you excuse me, Nan?"

CHAPTER XXXI

Nan sat motionless on the little sofa waiting. She had the curious feeling that she had left footed bottom, after plunging through countless fathoms of the sea of despair. She thought she had lost all power to feel in love or hope. It was good to have touched bottom. Better to know than to hope and to go on being hurt and hurt and hurt.

She did not know she was crying until a tear splashed upon the crisp ivory tulle of her evening dress. Such a dear dress. Although she had been married that morning in a jaunty little tailored suit, she had thought of this as her wedding dress. Apathetically, she watched the spot of moisture spread and spread. What a big tear! Another fell. The dress would be ruined. But what did it matter? Her wedding day was ruined. It was only fitting that the dress should be too.

There was a step. Her hand jerked up, dabbled fiercely at her eyes with the tiny point lace handkerchief. The handkerchief her mother had carried on her wedding day. Had her mother wept into it, too?

Nan forced herself to show an eagerly interested face when her husband rejoined her.

"There seems to be a conspiracy against our being together to-day," he grinned at her wryly. "The young widow of the murdered man is very mysterious, but she promises to talk fast enough if I'll come to see her this evening. I refused, of course—"

Nan had not put work ahead of love for four years for nothing. She was not pretending when she interrupted excitedly. "Refused? But, John! What she has to tell may be of vital importance to David Blackhall. You should know what it is before the preliminary hearing to-morrow. I felt sure his stepmother was far more intelligent than David would admit to-day. Wait! I'll get his statement. Of course you're going!"

She ran into the library, jerked open her new briefcase, extracted her typed copy of David Blackhall's story and flashed back into the drawing-room with it.

SANFORD EVANS TO FIND WHY B.C. FRUIT MEN LOSE

Noted Wheat Market Statistician Appointed by Premier to Investigate Here

Sanford Evans, noted market statistician of Winnipeg, has been appointed by Premier Tomin to investigate British Columbia fruit production and distribution problems, particularly in the Okanagan, and to find out why some of the growers are not making money.

The Premier said that Mr. Evans would investigate everything from farming methods and irrigation to transportation and marketing.

Mr. Evans is a member of the Manitoba Legislature. He was graduated from Columbia University, New York City. He was first president of the first Canadian Club, that at Hamilton and later organized the Toronto and Winnipeg Clubs. He was president and editor of the Winnipeg Telegram until it went out of existence, when he crossed over Main Street to the grain market, where he has become wealthy and famous. He is a director of the Sovereign Assurance Company. He has been controller and mayor of Winnipeg and has represented the city continuously in the Legislature since 1922. In 1914 he was chairman of the Georgian Bay Canal Commission. In 1917 he was chairman of the Royal Commission investigating fishery conditions and canning operations in northern British Columbia. He was active in the wheat board during the war. Now he is head of the Sanford Evans Statistical Bureau which sends out figures and forecasts on the wheat market to a long string of clients.

Langford

Sixteen children were present at the fourth life-saving class held at Langford Lakeside on Friday afternoon. The next will be held on Monday at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. J. Hazenfratz of Victoria is staying at her summer bungalow, "Deer Lodge," Langford Lake.

W. C. Sawyer of the U.S.S. Cory and Mrs. Sawyer have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Spencer of Florence Lake Road.

A fifty yard race for eight local young swimmers was held through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bennett at Langford Lakeside on Friday afternoon, resulting in Cecily Bennett obtaining first place, with Allen and Stella Hinkes a close second and third.

Eight junior members of the tennis club visited the Metochon courts on Friday afternoon and played eighty-eight games, winning the inter-club match by fourteen.

Master Howard Smedley is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. M. Florence, of Quadra Street.

A garden fete will be held by the Langford Women's Institute on Labor Day, September 2, in aid of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, at the home of Miss L. A. Savory. Further particulars will be arranged at a committee meeting next week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. C. Bennett gave a handsome challenge cup, to be known as the Langford Lakeside Challenge Cup, for the long distance swim at the regatta on Wednesday. This cup must be won by the final owner three times in succession. Miss Ruth Marriott obtained it this year, and also was given a small cup outright.

Arriving home, he found his dog waiting on the porch, and with him another dog. To his surprise the latter animal followed him into the house and persisted in giving him friendly attentions.

Wondering what it was all about, the physician noticed that one of the visitor's paws seemed sore. Investigating, he found a pin sticking in it. As soon as he had drawn the pin out and treated the foot the dog went away satisfied.

Cause and Effect
"Yes," said one man to another, "motoring is a great thing. I used to be sluggish before the motoring craze, but now I'm spry and energetic."

"I didn't know you motored."

"I don't—I dodge."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly's
Strawberries

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Wait a minute, my dear Wiggly," called Mrs. Longears to her husband one morning as he opened the front door of his hollow stump bungalow. "Wait, my dear."

He held the berries in his paws.

"Not ice cream, but strawberry short cake," answered Mrs. Longears and Uncle Wiggly jumped up in the air and cracked his paws together three times. Then he laughed.

"Oh, joy! How I love strawberry short cake!"

"But this isn't for you," spoke his wife. "Now listen," she went on as she saw Uncle Wiggly open his mouth to say something. "It is Nurse Jane's birthday and I am going to make the cake to surprise her. That's why I want the strawberries."

"Oh, then of course I'll bring you the sweetest, reddest and largest ones I can find," promised Mr. Longears. For well he knew that when Nurse Jane cut her strawberry short cake she would give him some. Nurse Jane Puzzy Wuszy was kind.

Away hopped the rabbit gentleman over the fields and through the woods to find a bed where the red strawberries were sleeping beneath the green leaves. Uncle Wiggly knew of such a bed near a dingly dell through which ran a little brook that sang songs to the flowers which leaned over to get a drink.

When he had jumped over an old log, landing on a patch of moss, all of a sudden Uncle Wiggly saw something red gleaming in the green and he knew that he had found the strawberries.

"And what lovely, large ones they are!" he said in delight as he knelt down in the moss and began picking them. "They will make a fine cake and I hope Nurse Jane will give me one slice and part of another. I love strawberry short cake."

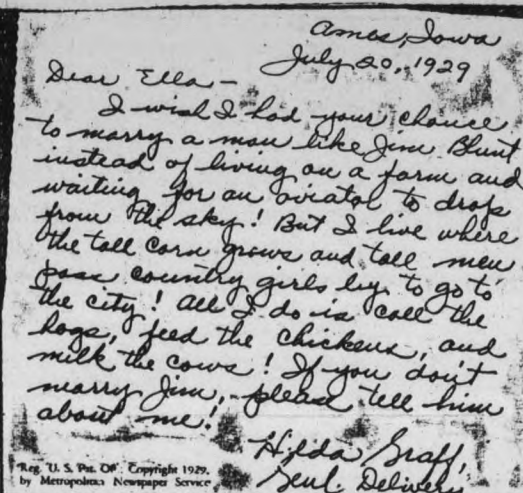

Then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggly happened to remember that he had brought with him no basket in which to put the berries. Nor had he a pal or a pan or anything which would hold the red fruit.

"That was queer of me," chuckled Mr. Longears. "Rather silly I might say. The idea of coming after strawberries and bringing nothing but put
